LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Seventy-five years ago, Atlantic Dairy Cooperative was formed to serve dairy farmers.

During a two-day convention held November 19 and 20, the Cooperative celebrated its successful history and grappled with changes needed for current market conditions.

This past year, the Cooperative marketed more milk than it ever has in its history. The fiscal year ended with one of its best financial performances, posting sales of $582 million and a net margin of $7.5 million.

"The strength of the cooperative is found in the loyalty of its members," Dr. Paul Hand, Atlantic's general manager, told the 1,100 guests attending the annual banquet.

In recognization of 34 founding member families who have held continuous membership since the cooperative's beginnings in 1917, Dr. Hand presented each founding family a bronze plaque. The families also received a copy of Atlantic's 75th anniversary booklet and a video.

The following were recognized as Founding Member Families: H. Karl and Marjorie Beegle of Bedford; Michael and Linda Behrer of Spruce Creek; Harry and Beth Bickel of Airville; Willaim and Kathryn Brinsfield Jr. of Cordova,

Groundwater Protection More Than A Fence Around The Wellhead

ANDY ANDREWS

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — Protection of groundwater is more than simply putting a fence around the wellhead and asking people to stay out. It's an ongoing program that identifies the site that feeds and discharges the groundwater and knowing ways in which to manage that site for farm, herd, and family health.

And it's important for farmers as well as municipalities to know the land area and history of the area surrounding the well and check for past or future threats to groundwater quality, according to Mark Nelson, senior hydrologist.

Nelson, from Horsley Witten Hegemann, Inc., Cambridge, Mass., spoke about tools for groundwater and wellhead protec-

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — Leon Wilkinson, a Landenburg dairyman, was honored Tuesday evening during the legislative banquet of the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association, held at the Hershey Lodge and Convention Center, Hershey.

The Pennsylvania Farmers' Association is one of the strongest, if not the strongest, agricultural lobbying groups in the state. It is the state chapter of the American Farm Bureau, a farmer representative group at the federal level.

PFA honored Wilkinson during its legislative and recognition banquet, part of its annual four-day PFA convention.

As Thanksgiving Day Approaches, Family Grateful For Harvest

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — The crops are harvested. The silos stuffed. It's been a bountiful harvest — 50 percent better than last year's drought-afflicted one for the Jay Calvin and Thelma Zimmerman family.

They, as do many farm families, brim with gratefulness during this Thanksgiving season. Calvin said, "This year's crop is the best we've had in the past 25 to 30 years."

Calvin echoed the sentiments of the Plymouth pilgrims who observed the first Thanksgiving when he said, "I'm thankful to God for my great family and that we can share these blessings together. I'm thankful to the Lord for providing for me so that I can work with the soil and animals."

Being thankful is a lifestyle and not merely a once-a-year event for the Zimmermans, who work together to milk 150 Holsteins, feed 150 replacements and calves, and crop 250 acres with corn, hay, rye, barley, and soybeans.

Social and work duties are so entertwined it is difficult to say where fun begins and work ends. Whether it is competing in tractor pulls or working in the fields, the parents and their children, Jeff, 14; Jared, 9; Janelle, 6; and Jason, 4, find pleasure in all of it.

Both parents, who grew up on Lancaster County dairy farms, sought to find a spouse who wanted to farm. After they married, they worked on a Lancaster County farm until they found the farm on which they now live. They began to rent-purchase the farm in 1978, and in 1991 they bought it. The farm is made up of a combination of several smaller farms. Calvin said, "We were fortunate to be able to buy it in parcels."

The buildings did not require renovations.

"The farm was ready to go when we moved here. The milking parlor was built in 1966 although it isn't as modern as some, it is sufficient for us," Calvin said.

The Zimmermans feed a total mixed ration and have a herd average of 17,500 pounds milk for their partly registered herd, which Calvin is working toward turning into fully registered.

In addition to each family member working on the farm, the Zimmermans also employ one full-time man and two part time teenagers.

"We have our full-time hired man for 10 years and just love him," Thelma said. "He is always on time and we can always depend on him to take care of things."

Morning and evening milking begins at 3:30 and takes about 3½ hours.

Thelma helps with evening and weekend milking.

Jeff does most of the feeding and scrapes the barn.

In the evening, Janelle feeds the calves. Although the others help out with calf feeding, Calvin said, "She is the only one who really loves the job."

The Zimmermans have a roller mill, which they use to produce high moisture corn. They raise their own forage and buy some additional grain and soybeans.

Because the harvest was 50 percent less last year, Calvin estimates that it will take two to three good years to catch up economically. But other methods of doing things

'I'm thankful for big turkeys, mashed potatoes, Dad, Mom, Jeff, Jared, and Janelle.'

Ice cream, each other, and living on a farm are a few of the things for which the Zimmerman family are grateful as they contemplate Thanksgiving Day. From left: Janelle, Jason, Jared, Calvin, Jeff, and Thelma.

Northeast Chicken Parts

Wednesday, November 18, 1992

Buying interest in boneless skinless breasts for retail needs was good with some inquiries for immediate and for first of the month needs not filled. Heavier boneless skinless breasts were still avaialble at some locations but offered at steady prices. Line run breasts were trending on the heavier side of desirable and sufficient to cover buyer needs. Asking prices and trading was reported at unchanged levels. Leg quarters were fully adequate to instances burdensome, buying interest was dull, and product was competitively priced to clear. Wings were very tight and prices continued to trend higher.

The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

NOVEMBER 23-29, 1992

PRUNE GRAPEVINES NOW.

We Gather Together

The first Thanksgiving at Plymouth was a three day feast in heartfelt gratitude for survival but most of the thanksgivings in our country's early history were to celebrate victories in battle. The first national day of thanksgiving was proclaimed by the Continental Congress on December 18 1777 to celebrate the defeat of the British at Saratoga. These were patriotic occasions quite separate from the local harvest festivals. The first nationwide Thanksgiving Day that combined patriotism, harvest, and religious observances was in 1863. But it was not until 1941 that Thanksgiving Day was permanently fixed for the fourth Thursday in November.

There's feasting and fun for everyone, for this is Thanksgiving Day!— Lydia Maria Child, Over the River and Through the Wood

TIP OF THE WEEK

Brown the flour before using to thicken the gravy, and your gravy will be nice and brown.

EARTHWISE

As you are putting away the food from your family's Thanksgiving feast, consider your choices. Whenever possible avoid single-use items like plastic "zipper" bags or aluminum foil. Put your leftovers in leftovers! Re-use clean, empty margarine tubs, yogurt containers, or glass jars. Or, put leftovers into appropriately sized lidded casseroles and they'll be ready to go straight from your refrigerator to microwave tomorrow.

Ozark Sweet Potatoes and Apples

- 6 medium sweet potatoes
- 6 medium cooking apples
- ½ cup butter
- ½ cup apple cider
- ½ cup brown sugar
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- ¼ teaspoon allspice

Cook, peel and slice potatoes. Peel, core, and slice apples. Melt butter over medium heat, add remaining ingredients and simmer 5 minutes. Alternate layers of potatoes and apples in a greased 2-quart casserole, drizzling cider syrup over each layer. Cover and bake at 350° F for 20 minutes.

Makes 6 servings

"If you won't buy one for you, buy one for your family."

"I thought I was a tough guy And I'd been using PTO's for years. But I found out I was no match for an unprotected PTO Sure, I suffered some, but I managed—my family suffered a lot more. Not only the doctor's bills, but caring for me through all the pain and hospital visits Now, things I can't do with one arm have to be done by my wife or my kids But there's no way I want to put them in the same danger I put myself in every day Thankfully, at long last, somebody's designed a PTO guard that really guards."

OPINION

Autumn Finishes Year

The Autumn season finishes the year,
Hangs harvest moon in color atmosphere
Grain ripens, wheat and oats leap into shocks,
We hasten toward the last year's equinox...
For Winter hides behind a northern sky.
Floats in each wavering wind that flurries by.
Thanksgiving time, corn hurries toward the barn,
As ice forms isles on meadow-brook and tarn.
At borderland of every fertile field,
Marauding crows peck at remaining yield
Of grain dropped by machine or man, unseen...
They chatter as they sweep the furrows clean
Apples, like small, red worlds, plunge down the night
On orchards, in mounds, beautiful and bright.
Fall changes little as the years go by,
The prairie folk are glad... and so am I,
For every single blessing gives a reason
That we rejoice at this Thanksgiving season!

To Take A $25,000 Management Tip

Luther Smith, West Virginia farm management specialist, wrote about this $25,000 management tip.

An efficiency expert named Ivy Lee was discussing ways to improve the management of a steel company. The president told him he knew he was not running an efficient company. What he needed was not more "knowing what to do" but "how to get it done."

The president said he would pay him anything within reason if he could help him get more things done. Lee outlined the following steps: 1. Take out a piece of paper and pencil. 2. Write down the six most important things you need to do tomorrow. 3. Number those things from one to six in the order they need to be done and keep the list in your pocket. 4. Tomorrow, when you start your day, look at the list and start on number one. If you can, stick with it until it is finished. 5. Then move to number two and so on. 6. When all six are completed, make another list and keep repeating the process.

After Lee told the president this plan, he directed him to send a check for what he thought the idea was worth. Several months later, Lee received a $25,000 check with a note saying his idea was the most profitable the company had ever adopted.

Yes, it is a simple idea you probably have heard before. How many of us are really doing it?

To Tell The Agricultural Story

Thanksgiving marks the time this country gives thanks for its many blessings.

American agriculture remains strong through its many dedicated farm families and agribusiness employees.

Today, United States consumers spend around 10 percent of their disposal income on food. This compares to 18 percent for Japan, 32 percent for Mexico, 48 percent for China, and 53 percent for India.

In addition, we have one of the safest food supply in the country. Recent media reports have questioned our food supply. We need to point out many of these abuses are the exception rather than the rule.

I find it interesting that it was not very long ago people were criticizing the United States Department of Agriculture for having too many employees while the number of farmers were declining. We now have an opportunity to explain the Department of Agriculture has a very important function of insuring food standards and safety.

Also, the department serves all people, not just farmers. At this holiday season, let us give thanks for our favorable climate and productive soils and for the men and women who have combined the resources made available to them into a very efficient food production, processing, and distribution system — the envy of the world.

To Deal With Wet Corn

The cool weather this summer and fall have resulted in more immature and higher moisture levels in corn.

This is the year to test your corn silage and high moisture grains. High moisture and immature corn may contain less energy.

Also, corn silage may test lower in protein and higher in acid detergent fiber (ADF) and neutral detergent fiber (NDF). Corn grain and corn silage ensiled at higher moisture levels generally is more acid and less palatable.

Dry matter intakes may be a problem. Feeding cows more buffers might help this situation. The higher acidity levels may cause more breakdown of the protein fraction, releasing more ammonia, etc.

Soluble or degradable protein levels might be higher and undegradable or bypass protein might be less. Thus, it is very important to forage test and work very closely with your nutritionist.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

GETTING IT "RIGHT"
November 22, 1992

Background Scripture:
Micah 6.

Devotional Reading:
Micah 6:9-16.

One of those stories that my father and mother used to love to tell us was about one of the first Christmases of their marriage. My mother's present to my father was a beautiful bridge lamp. Now, my father didn't want or need a bridge lamp, beautiful or not. But my mother liked the lamp so much so taht is what she gave him.

The reason we all liked that story so much was that it is so representative of human nature: often what we give someone is not what they want or need, but what we like. No one knows that more certainly than God, for throughout human history we have given him, not what he wants and asks for, but something else.

In Micah, the prophet asks rhetorically: "With what shall I come before the Lord, and bow myself before God on high? Shall I come before him with burnt offerings, with calves a year old? Will the Lord be pleased with thousands of rams, with ten thousands of rivers of oil? Shall I give my first born for my transgression, the fruit of my body for the sin of my soul?"(6:6).

HE HAS SHOWN YOU

Whenever human beings have felt a need to respond to God or seek his help, they have come up with some rather elaborate systems which, although quite human, they have ascribed to the Lord. So, they have made animal sacrifices, burned offerings, participated in elaborate rituals, afflicted their own bodies, delivered copious incantations, and so forth-all for the sake of pleasing or pacifying God.

The problem, as the prophet makes clear, is not that we don't know what God really wants from us, but that we prefer to give him something else. It is not because his will is hidden, for "He has showed you, O man, what is good"(6:8). After all these thousands of years, after all these revelations God has given us, we still don't get it right—because we don't want to. We like it our way.

"And what does the Lord require of you, but to do justice, and to love kindness, and to walk humbly with your God"? It is amazing how really simple it is to give God what he wants: do justice, love kindness, and walk humbly. No secret words, no hidden teachings, no towering mountains to climb or unending deserts to cross. Nothing but justice, kindness and humility!

WHAT DO YOU MEAN?

But it is in the nature of humanity to stall and ask, what does he mean by justice, kindness and mercy? So Micah spells it out in a way that could hardly have pleased his listeners. What it does not mean, said Micah, is cheating, lying and doing violence—the three most popular activities of their society. And what about ours? Isn't that what our society is all about: cheating and lying, and if that doesn't work, violence? Isn't that what television and the movies tell us?

Micah's message is just as relevant for our world as it was his. "You shall eat, but not be satisfied, and there shall be a hunger in your inward parts"(6:14). It is interesting to note that in the day when Micah spoke or wrote these words, people worked daily just to eat. Most of their labor was spent on getting enough food, not to satisfy them, but to survive. Today, despite the millions who are starving around the world, ours is a world of relative plenty so far as food is concerned (it just isn't distributed very well!) yet, despite all of this food, we are no more satisfied than the people of Micah's time. There is in us that same "hunger in your inward parts" that food never seems to fill.

If we gave God what he really wants from us, we would receive what we really need and that hunger in the "inward parts" would be gone. It is really so simple—isn't it about time we got it right?

19 More Reasons

Why you should buy Big Dutchman from Hershey Equipment

NEW CONSTRUCTION OR REMODEL WORK

1. Big Dutchman and Hershey Equipment is #1 in owner loyalty. More people buy Big Dutchman when they remodel than any other system.
2. Our Profit-tier system adapts to your old building.
3. Re-use your old corners to save money.
4. Big Dutchman's superior suspension system keeps the cages from sagging between stands. Competitive systems sag.
5. Lower maintenance costs. Talk to our customers - Then talk to theirs!
6. Better Performance! This isn't just talk. Ask your feed company to show you records from a Big Dutchman system to compare to a competitive system.
7. Big Dutchman high lip feed trough is designed to reduce spillage into the walkways. Look at a competitors walkway and measure the thickness of wasted feed.
8. Your old hoppers aren't wore out. Save money and reuse them on your new system.
9. We have our own installation crews to be sure the equipment is properly installed. Competition hires outside crews.
10. Eggs move gently from the birds, to the belts and thru the collector unit. The eggs are not like balls in a bowling alley as in some competitive systems.
11. Incredible! New left hand drive allows feed chain to travel up to 120 F.P.M.
12. Your present gearboxes and motors can be re-used to save money.
13. The Big Dutchman chain feeder gives 2½ times more feeder space than the grind auger.
14. It's a proven fact. Chain feeder systems use less electricity.
15. Big Dutchman has a stronger cage top and front than competitive cages.
16. The sliding door on a Big Dutchman system is easy to open and close and it stays closed.
17. The Big Dutchman collector is the best there is. Don't accept an imitation.
18. Our cage design allows eggs to roll front and out of the cage, not get stepped on and cracked by birds as in competitive cages.
19. Big Dutchman systems provides a bigger percentage of larger eggs for a longer period of time.

of the Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board (the PMMB regulates drinking milk prices to farmers and shelf prices in non-farm retail stores), has devoted more than 50 years of his life to the promotion of the agricultural industry.

He was commended by Keith Eckel, PFA president who was re-elected to a sixth consecutive two-year term, before about 600 people attending the banquet.

Wilkinson has been a PFA member for more than 40 years, serving on numerous committees and currently serving on the PFA National Legislative Committee.

In addition to being involved in the Chester-Delaware County Farmers' Association, he has been a 4-H leader for 30 years and is also vice president of the Philadelphia Society for the Promotion of Agriculture.

"Leon truly epitomizes the meaning of the PFA Distinguished Service to Agriculture award winners," Eckel said.

The award is presented to a member of the agricultural community who has distinguished himself in support of and for the benefit of the agricultural industry.

"Leon has always taken along his love of agriculture to the various committees in wich he has been involved, and always invites people to his farm. His point in all of this is to educate them so their applications to this aspect of society will be practical," said Barclay Hoopes, president of the Chester-Delaware County Farmers' Association.

Wilkinson, his wife Edna, and two of their four sons are involved in the family dairy operation, that involves 500 milking cows on 6,000 acres. They also raise about an equal number of replacement cattle and are involved in an embryo transfer business.

In other business, PFA members also honored retiring state House minority whip Samuel Hayes for his 22 years of support of agriculture in the state General Assembly.

Rep. Hayes was presented with the PFA Barn Raiser award in recognition of representing Hungtindon and Blair counties and "working behind the scenes and in public in the budgetary process to promote agriculture and the funding of agricultural programs," according to Janet Carson, public relations spokesperson.

Hayes, who has been recognized for his efforts on behalf of agriculture by many other organizations, was also noted for being instrumental in helping get through the state agricultural farmland preservation program, serving on the conference committee to complete its passage.

Also honored were Steven Jr. and Rebekah Gross, of Manchester, York County, who had been named as PFA's Outstanding Young Farmer Award recipients.

The annual award is presented to a PFA farmer, usually a couple, who has worked to improve the image of agriculture.

The Grosses started with three Holstein beef calves in 1989 and have expanded to 165 head. They concentrate on raising cattle in the most cost efficient manner possible and can currently feed calves to market weight within 20 to 22 months.

Both are active in farm organizations, with Steve chairman of the Young Farmer and Rancher Committeem fo the York County Farmers' Association and Becky serving as vice president of the Penn's Agri-Women.

They are the parents of a 1-year-old son.

As winners, they are to repre-

National FFA Convention Shows Youth's Leadership Spirit

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — From the opening gala celebration to the final tap of the gavel, the 65th National FFA Convention showed the leadership spirit of today's youth.

The activities in and around the Municipal Auditorium last week showed the promise of the agricultural industry, and the young people who will serve as its leaders. A record 28,418 members and guests were on hand to witness the convention events.

The convention kicked off with a lively opening celebration featuring a performance by the Kentucky HeadHunters, a country music group comprised of several former FFA members. Olympic gold medal gymnast Mary Lou Retton and former hostage Thomas Sutherland shared words of inspiration with the students during convention sessions.

Following the excitement of the confetti-filled opening gala, the members got down to the normal convention events of participating in contests, receiving awards, attending leadership workshops, and honoring sponsors who make possible the extensive list of FFA programs. Businesses and individuals who support the organization received Honorary American FFA degrees, Distinguished Service awards, and VIP citations. Thirty-four teams participated in the premiere of the national parliamentary procedure contest.

During business sessions, official delegates passed a measure to realign the four regional boundaries, creating more equitable divisions of states and territories. The delegates also voted to discontinue sales of FFA sweetheart jackets and accessories from the FFA Supply Service.

The National FFA Alumni held a successful auction, raising almost $36,000 to support FFA programs. Items sold at the auction were donated from various businesses and individuals.

FFA Foundation Sets Record Raises $4.75 Million

For the 26th consecutive year, the National FFA Foundation has set a record level of support for FFA and agricultural education programs.

At the convention, Neil O. Christenson announced that a total of $4,751,000 was raised in 1992 to support projects and programs for FFA and agricultural education, a seven percent increase from 1991. A crowd of more than 24,000 FFA members and guests cheered the announcement.

Christenson serves as the 1992 FFA Foundation Sponsors' Board chairman, and is vice president, Farm Equipment, U.S. and Canada for Deere & Company.

Christenson sees the contributions of the more than 1,000 Foundation sponsors as an investment in the future. "We are really counting on you, the FFA, to keep this industry growing," he said.

Christenson introduced the 1993 FFA Foundation Sponsors' Board chairman, Dale Miller, who is president and chief executive officer of Sandoz Agro, Inc. Miller announced the 1993 Foundation theme, "Tomorrow's Leaders Today."

Since 1944, the National FFA Foundation has provided more than $46 million to FFA members for awards, scholarships and achievement programs.

FFA Elects 1992-93 National FFA Officer Team

Specht Honored By PSU Dairymen

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — The Penn State Dairymen's Club held its annual meeting recently at the Penn State Ag Arena.

The highlight of the evening was the presentation of the Dairymen's Service Award to Dr. Lawrence Specht. As a 35-year faculty member of the Penn State Department of Dairy Science, Specht is very well suited for this award. The Dairymen's Service Award is presented annually to a person who has contributed greatly to the dairy industry.

From the left, Larry Swartz presents the Dairymen's Service Award to Dr. Lawrence Specht, a PSU extension specialist in dairy genetics and breeding.

As a dairy extension specialist in dairy genetics and breeding, Specht is a great asset to the A.I. industry. He has worked closely with the sire committees of the Pennsylvania-based studs and as an advisor to the national sire analysis group to promote and expand progeny test programs for young dairy sires.

Dr. Specht also has worked closely with dairy record processing centers on developing new programs and calculating herd, county and state genetic inventories and data.

And through his extension work, he has educated many about genetics and methods of herd improvement through improved genetics and management.

He also is an active member of the Dairy Shrine, PA Dairymen's Association, Gamma Sigma Delta, Epsilon Sigma Phi and the American Dairy Sicence Association.

Dr. Specht lives in Boalsburg with his wife, Elizabeth. They have six children and six grandchildren.

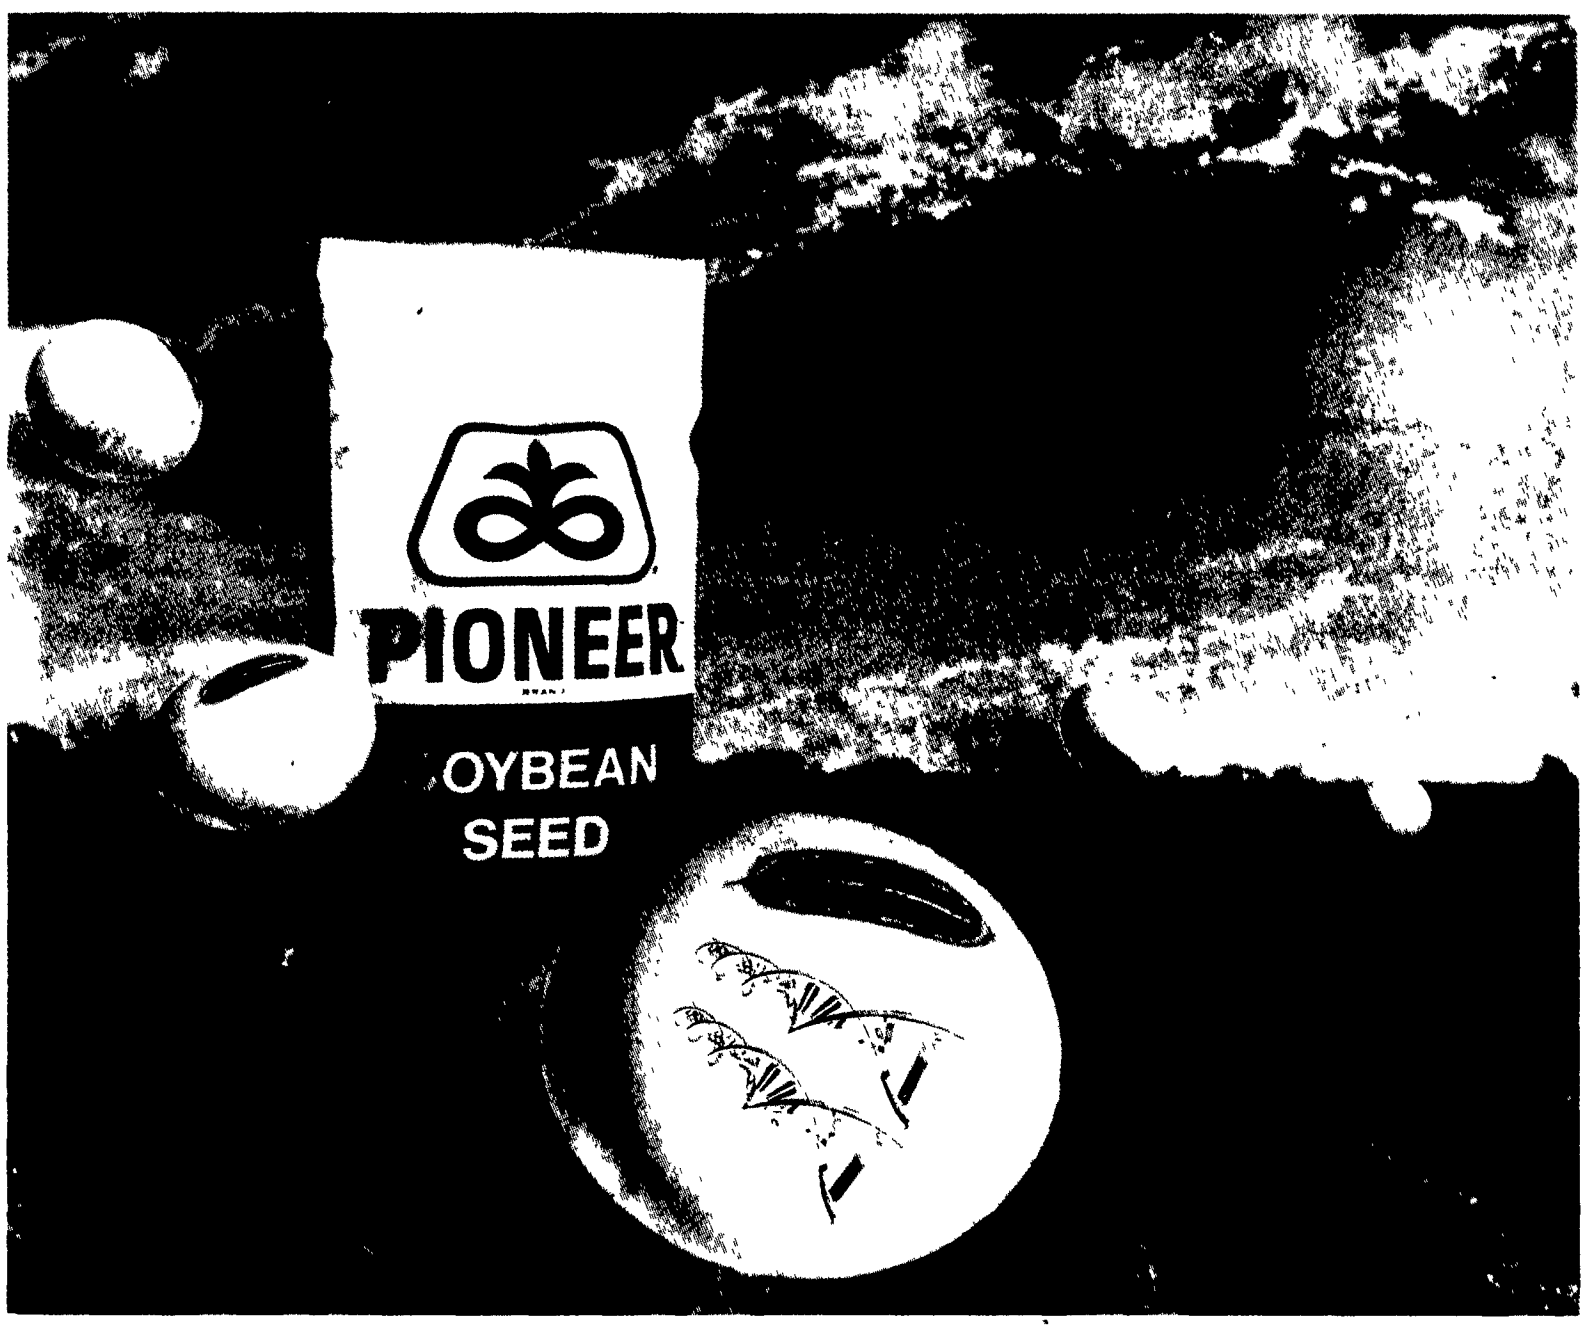
Other highlights of the banquet include introductions of graduating seniors and the Poage-Grant-In-Aid winner, Cathy Pavelski; a department report from Dr. Stanley Curtis; and reports on the Penn State Dairy Science Club and judging team activities.

Newly elected directors of the Penn State Dairymen's Club are Mary Ann Keith, Ken Raney and Dave Trotter.

To finish off a great evening, the group enjoyed the entertainment of the Wind River Band.

For more information on the Penn State Dairymen's Club, contact Mike O'Connor at 324 Henning Building, University Park, PA 16802.



BETTER BEANS START WITH BETTER GENES.

Not all soybeans are created equal. Pioneer® brand soybeans start with leading genetics that offer greater disease resistance and performance. Through a strong commitment to research, Pioneer is proving that better genes make for better beans. That's why soybean growers have made Pioneer varieties the number one planted brand. And now they're also available in bulk. Ask your Pioneer sales representative for the varieties right for your fields.

PHA Seeks Nominees, Announces Contest

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The Pennsylvania Holstein Association has announced it is again sponsoring the Distinguished Young Holstein Breeder award and it is also seeking nominations to its hall of fame.

The distinguished young breeder contest is open to any Pennslyvania and national Holstein Association member who is from 21 to 40 years old (if partnership, both must meet age limits), who owns or has management responsibility for a herd of cows. The herd must also be on official DHIA test.

The award is to recognize the accomplishments of young people who breed registered Holsteins and to encourage the establishment of goals to aid in management decisions which help achieve a profitable business.

The dealine for submission of application for the contest is Jan. 1.

The Hall of Fame award is presented annually to a living member of the state association which recognizes an individual's achievements and contributions to the Holstein industry as well as activities in other agricultural and community activities.

The deadline for submission of applications for the Hall of Fame award is Dec. 28.

More information on the Hall of Fame award, and applications for both the awards programs are available from the Pennsylvania Holstein Association, 839 Benner Pike, State College, 16801, or by calling (814) 234-0364.

Wilkinson Receives

sent PFA in the national young farmer contest during the January convention of the American Farm Bureau to be held in Anaheim, Calif. They are received an all-terrain vehicle.

In other business, Eckel said that PFA has been making a number of positive changes for its members.

"In less than 12 months, we went from about 40 insurance agents serving our membershipto more than 200, when we signed a partnership agreement with Nationwide Insurance Company," he said.

The extra agents come with no extra cost, he said, adding that the sponsorship should provide members with the opportunity to get insurance at competitive prices.

Eckel also reported that while the cost of many other medical insurance plans went up significantly, the cost of PFA's group medical plan only increased less 3 percent. He said that, although any increase is not desired, having the rise be less than the increase in the rate of inflation was very good.

Also, delegates from PFA's 54 county associations elected five new members to the PFA State Board of Directors. The new members include Clarence Berger, Kintnersville; Donn Fetterolf, Aaronsburg; Wayne Freeman, Elliottsburg; Jerome Carl of Dysart; and Robert Whitney of Harborcreek.

As far as policy changes, the delegates decided to ask the state Gamer Commission to establish a $1 million crop damage fund to reimburse farmers whose crops are eaten by deer or other wildlife.

They also recommended that the state set the same health and disease-control standards for commercial animal herds of deer or elk, or other exotic domestic meat animals.

The PFA delegates also adopted a policy of calling for a reduction of property taxes on property crossed by major utility lines. They also recommended that the state constitution be amended to change the state income tax from a flat rate to a progressive rate tax.

Further, they amended the group's stance on nutrient management to recommend that implementation of nutrient management planning be required only for farms with a high animal density. Planning and implementation for all other farms would be voluntary.

No specific animal density guidelines were decided.

Delegates also are calling for incentives for the reuse or redevelopment of existing business and industrial sites over taking undeveloped land.

PFA is a voluntary, general farm organization which represents 23,189 member families.

National FFA Convention Shows Youth's Leadership Spirit

respectively, at the 65th National FFA Convention. Each received a $2,000 cash award and will participate in an international experience program in Europe for achieving FFA's highest honors.

Each star was chosen from a field of four regional finalists. Hal Hensler Glaze, 21, Eastanollee, Ga.; Brian Lake, 21, Big Cove Tannery, Pa.; and Darren Funk, 19, Burley, Idaho, were the other three star farmer candidates chosen from 1,208 American FFA Degree recipients. Terrill Strnad, 21, Formoso, Kan.; Jeff Martin, 21, East Earl, Pa.; and Randall Bogden, 22, Ulm Mont., were the three star in agribusiness candidates chosen.

National, state and local FFA officials selected the stars on the basis of knowledge of their enterprises, management skills, return on investments and growth of their programs. The stars were also judged on leadership abilities demonstrated through their FFA activities.

Each regional star received $1,000 from the National FFA Foundation, Inc., and the national winners received an additional $1,000. The Stars Over America recognition represents the highest achievement awarded in the organization.

The American FFA Degree recognition program is co-sponsored by American Cyanamid Company, Agricultrual Division of Wayne, N.J.; Case IH of Racine, Wis.; Farm Credit System of Washington, D.C.; Na-Churs Plant Food Company of Marion, Ohio; and Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc. of Des Moines, Iowa, as a special project of the National FFA Foundation, Inc.

FFA Selects Paske American Star Farmer

Production agriculture has been a part of Kelby Paske's family for three generations. At age 22, he's a seasoned veteran of eight years. In recognition of his accomplishments, the National FFA Organization named Paske the 1992 American Star Farmer.

Paske, of Arlington, Wis., began his farming operation by renting 30 acres to raise grain crops. Today, he's renting 1,675 acres to raise corn, soybeans and peas, 480 of which belong to his parents, Frederick and Beverly Paske. Kelby said, "In 1990, Dad and I discussed the option of renting his farm. Since Dad has his own trucking operation, my renting the farm allows him to haul more often."

Paske locks in a profit by hedging his corn and soybeans on the futures markets and forward contracting with Del Monte for his canning crops. To increase his cash flow, Paske manages a trucking operation. He watches the markets and takes advantage of price fluctuations by hauling grain to Milwaukee and Chicago during the winter. From June 15 through Oct. 1, he uses his equipment to haul raw peas and corn to the Del Monte processing facility in Arlington, Wis.

Being recognized as the 1992 American Star Farmer is the latest in a series of awards Paske has received for his farming operation. In 1988, he won FFA's national oil crop proficiency award and in 1989, Paske was named Wisconsin's Star Farmer.

According to his FFA advisor, Dan Kvalheim, Paske has played an active leadership role in the DeForest FFA Chapter. "Kelby has served as chapter president and was chairman of our land laboratory activities. He has a positive attitude that makes others want to cooperate and become involved."

Paske believes his future in production agriculture is shaping up. "I'm in a position to start buying some land, and I hope to expand to 2,000 acres. I would also like to expand my trucking operation to five or six trucks."

FFA Selects Wells American Star in Agribusiness

Chad Wells, McMinnville, Tenn., started helping his neighbor with a nursery and orchard business when he was 12 years old. When he was 16, he began growing his own nursery stock and started a small landscaping service. Today, at age 21, he is the owner and operator of Middle Tennessee Landscaping and Nursery. For his efforts and accomplishments, the National FFA Organization named Wells the 1992 American Star in Agribusiness.

Wells' business employs five people and provides landscaping services for individuals, shopping centers and industrial parks. He has expanded his customer base to service landscaping needs throughout Tennessee.

Wells, a 1989 graduate of Warren County High School, recently purchased 25 acres to further expand his operation. He's already constructed a 30'x40' packing barn for plant sotrage and plans to build ten additional greenhouses. He already grows some of the plants he uses. "With this new acquisition, I will be able to produce more and more of the landscaping plants I need," he said.

Russell Watson, Warren County FFA advisor, said "Chad's success can be attributed to his strong character and work ethic. He is an asset to his chapter and school because of his leadership and involvement in many activities."

Wells believes customer satisfaction is the key to his business. "Pleased customers will recommend you to prospective customers. About 50 percent of my business comes from referrals from happy customers," he said.

Wells says his involvement in the Warren County FFA Chapter kept him motivated and taught him the skills necessary for working with people and running a business. "I have gained so much knowledge from those I have worked for and from the instruction I received in my agriculture classes," he said. "Also, my parents have supported me in my decisions and have encouraged me to work hard and expand my business."

Leidy Donates To Food Bank

HATFIELD (Montgomery Co.) — On Monday, Thomas Leidy, president of Leidy Inc., a large company producing pork products, will participate in his company's transfer of food to the Greater Philadelphia Food Bank.

This shipment concludes two months of donations totaling 30,000 pounds having a retail value of $40,000. Leidy has been on hand for each transfer of food to insure that the independent carrier hired by the Food Bank has a successful transfer.

The food has been stored at Rosenberger's Cold Storage Companies, Inc., Hatfield, where owner/president Henry Rosenberger has donated the equivalent of two truck loads of freezer space for the past seven years. Both Leidy and Rosenberger are dedicated to defeating hunger in the community and their companies are among many local firms making ongoing donations to the Philadelphia Food Bank.

The Greater Philadelphia Food Bank collects all available surplus food from local and national food companies and distributes it to charities that directly feed the needy. Nine million pounds of food was distributed in 1991.

In the Philadelphia area, as many as 500,000 people do not have enough to eat on a daily basis. One hundred sixty-eight thousand children in the Delaware Valley live in poverty and more than 29 tons of food a week are supplied to children's groups from the Food Bank.

One-third of Philadelphia's senior citizens are poor. For every dollar spent by the Food Bank, $21 in groceries is provided to the poor.

One of the current projects in Philadelphia area is the Checkout Hunger In Our Neighborhood program. This program is a joint effort between area supermarkets and the Food Bank to generate donations to fight hunger.

At the checkout counter is a display with a $1 coupon that is given to the cashier, and $1 is added to your bill. Leidy and Rosenberger hope that this month everyone will make a special effort to donate at least $1 using these convenient coupons to help support the Greater Philadelphia Food Bank, which runs through to the end of November.

What is now Leidy Inc. was founded in 1893. Tom Leidy and his brother Terrance took over the leadership in 1976. The company has always focused on the manufacture and sale of quality pork products which include fresh pork cuts, hams, bacon, sausage, scrapple and other pork products.

Local agencies in the Montgomery and Bucks County are receiving food from the Greater Philadelphia Food Bank for soup kitchens, group homes, emergency help, day care or shelters are:

Thanksgiving Day Spurs Thoughts Of Gratitude

enables financial savings also. For example, the Zimmermans have been using newspaper for bedding for the past three years.

"The costs are lower, the newspaper is more absorbent, and now we have straw to sell," he said.

Bedding with newspaper is especially easy since Calvin invested in a Kidd bale chopper from England.

"We get newspapers in bulk and use a tub grinder that blows the bedding right into the stalls," Calvin said. He estimates that it takes about 90 minutes to bed 160 stalls.

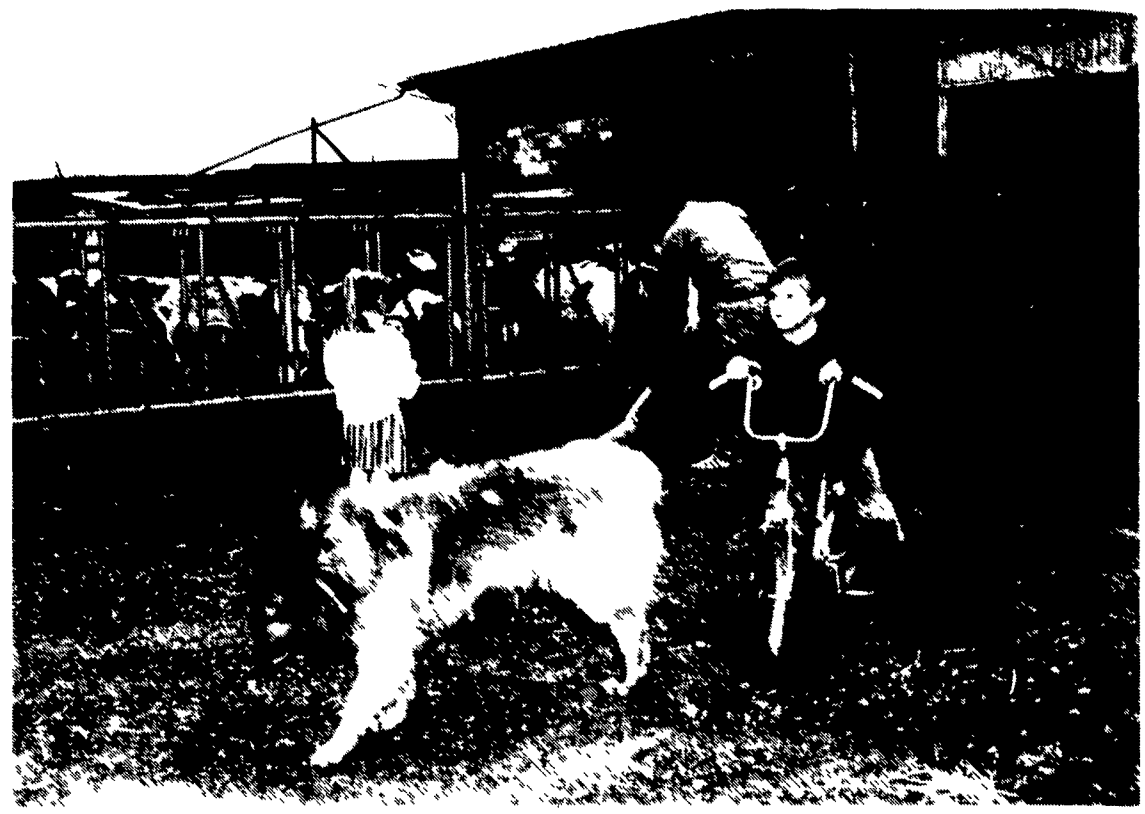
It takes four to five tons of paper weekly to put fresh bedding on about every other day.

"The nice thing about newspaper bedding is that we don't have the ammonia smell from fermenting like we did when we used straw," Calvin said. "Newspaper even works better with our Slurry than hay or straw do."

Six-year-old Janelle is the Lebanon County Li'l Dairy Miss. She helps hand out dairy products and promotional materials at many local events.

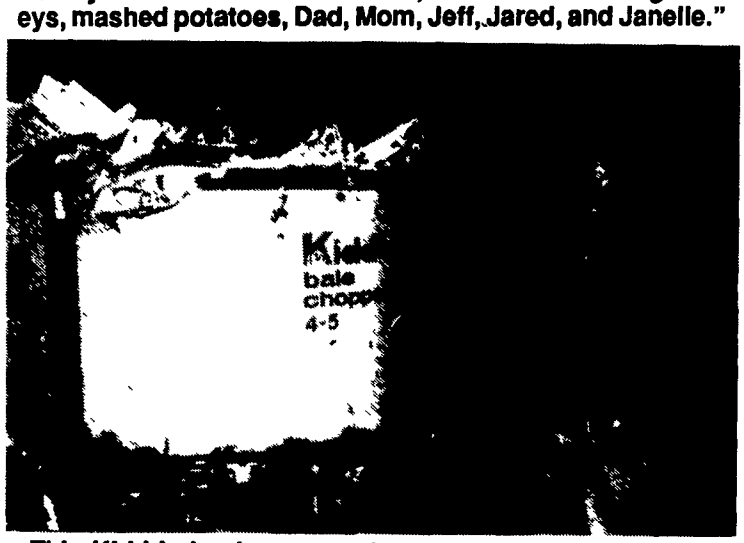
"Since Janelle is the Dairy Miss, I have become more involved in dairy promotion," Thelma said. "I really enjoy helping at the promotions and will probably stay involved after Janelle's reign ends."

Thelma describes herself as a person who does a little bit of everything. She enjoys cooking and is an active member of Lebanon Farm Women Society 1 and at her church's Take a Break program for mothers.



The Zimmerman children play while dad works.

"I like to help my mother get ready for the big Thanksgiving dinner when all my cousins come over," Janelle said. Her 4-year-old brother Jason said, "I'm thankful for big turkeys, mashed potatoes, Dad, Mom, Jeff, Jared, and Janelle."



This Kidd bale chopper makes bedding with shredded newspapers a quick and easy job.

A newspaper stack offers as much fun as a haystack for the Zimmerman children.

Calvin is an alternate delegate for the Atlantic Dairy Cooperative. He is a director for the Centerport Milk Haulers. Although the Zimmermans live in Lebanon County, their membership in PFA is with the Ephrata Area Farmers.

"I imagine that we will probably become more involved with the local chapter since Jeff is in FFA at Cedar Crest High School," Calvin said.

Jeff is a freshman. Both he and his brother Jared enjoy showing cattle at fairs. Jeff is a member of the Leola Tractor Pullers. About 30 members meet every other Saturday during the summer to compete in garden tractor pulls where they pull between 200 and 1,000 pounds. In competition, Jeff uses a "reved up Cub Kadet 100." Out of 30 members, Jeff usually ends up in the top five. Competition is divided into two classes. One is for tractors 12 h.p. and under, and the other is for tractors with 13 to 18 h.p.

Jeff has an affinity for mechanics.

"I could tell that even when he was little," his mother said of Jeff's preoccupation with taking things apart.

Recently, Jeff converted a snow mobile into a four-wheeler.

Jeff's mechanical interests stem from his dad's ability in fixing things.

Calvin said, "If something breaks, I fix it rather than buy a new one."

Now, when something breaks, Calvin and his son both would rather fix it than milk cows, but Calvin generally lets Jeff fix it.

"Jeff doesn't enjoy milking, and I need to milk at least once a day to keep tabs on things," said Calvin, who also does all the breeding.

In addition to showing cows, Jared enjoys driving a three-wheeler and placed third in competition at the South Lebanon Fair.

It's for the ordinary days on the farm for which the Zimmerman family is grateful.

This Thanksgiving Day, 21 relatives from Calvin's side of the family will gather around one table in the Zimmerman farm.

"We'll have turkey and all the trimmings," Thelma said. "It's a time to celebrate for all the things we have...a healthy family, food to eat, a place to live...."

Although Jason at four years of age is a bit young for farm chores, he eagerly participates in family discussions. In anticipation of Thanksgiving Day, Jason said, "I'm thankful for big turkeys, mashed potatoes, Dad, Mom, Jeff, Jared, and Janelle."

It's Thanksgiving every day on the Zimmerman farm.

Hershey To Host Vegetable Conference

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — More than over 850 people, mostly vegetable growers from throughout Pennsylvania, are expected to gather at the Hershey Lodge and Convention Center for the 1993 Pennsylvania Vegetable Conference and Trade Show January 26-28.

The conference will be held concurrently with the 134th annual meeting of the State Horticultural Association of Pennsylvania, the state fruit growers association. The state horticultural societies of Maryland and New Jersey also meet in conjunction with their fellow fruit growers from Pennsylvania. In all, more than 1,600 are expected to attend the three-day meetings.

During the conference, vegetable growers, industry specialists and university researchers will conduct seminars on all phases of the vegetable industry. More than 16 pesticide applicator update training credits are available to growers attending the sessions.

Sessions on January 26 will cover processing and fresh-market production methods, including disease control, pest resistance, fumigation, trickle irrigation, and sweet corn IPM. There will also be sessions on marketing and farm labor issues.

Bedding plant production sessions will be featured on January 27, along with sessions on general vegetable culture and small fruit. There will also be a special seminar on sweet corn insect monitoring to train growers on this important technique involved in an IPM program. January 28 will be devoted to small fruit production topics.

A special all-day short course on direct marketing will also be offered the last day, January 28. It will feature several growers who operate successful retail markets. Other speakers on the short course program will cover evaluation of advertising, developing a business image, storage of horticultural crops, and European marketing approaches.

More than 100 exhibitors will display the latest in equipment, supplies, and varieties for both fruit and vegetable growers at the trade show. The processing tomato growers with the highest yields for the 1992 season will be honored at the annual tomato awards luncheon on the opening day, January 26.

The annual Fruit and Vegetable Growers Banquet will be held that evening. It will feature Penn State's Singing Lions as the entertainment.

The members of the Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers Association will discuss various issues and elect members of the board of directors at their annual business meeting on January 27.

The Vegetable Conference is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers Association and The Pennsylvania State University. For more information on the program, contact the Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers Association, RD 1, Box 392, Northumberland, PA 17857-9723, (717) 473-8468.

Farm-City Week This Week

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — National Farm-City Week will be celebrated Nov. 20-26 in communities all across the United States, according to Dyan Yingst, chairperson of the Pennsylvania Farm-City Council.

"Farm-City Week is a special time to celebrate our nation's agricultural and industrial bounty," she said. "It's also a time to join together and recognize the interdependence between our rural and urban residents."

The statewide kickoff for Farm-City Week in Pennsylvania will be held on Thursday. The State Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg serves as headquarters for a full day of activities.

Three speakers will share the spotlight during the luncheon program. State Secretary of Agriculture Boyd E. Wolff will discuss the contributions made by the rural population, while Stephen R. Reed, mayor of Harrisburg, will speak about the Farm-City theme as it relates to cities in particular. Hugh Siggens, district governor of Pennsylvania's Kiwanis Club, will speak about the support Kiwanis gives to the Farm-City Program for rural and urban neighbors alike.

Morning bus tours will go to Susquehanna Aquacultures, the Northeast's leading producer of striped bass, and an automated food distribution center in Harrisburg. Three afternoon tours include ALKA Farm & Advanced Scientifics, Lynn Henninger's Turkey Farm and the Upper Dauphin County Grain Storage Center. For tour and luncheon reservations, call 717-540-9300.

Pennsylvania has the largest rural population of any state in the nation. The hard work and dedication of Pennsylvania farm families and food processors continue to keep agriculture the number one industry of the Commonwealth. Our incorporated towns, boroughs and cities are growing hubs of activity and destination points for many of these agricultural products.

"Without farms, cities would not have food, without cities and towns, farmers would not have the markets and processing facilities so necessary for their products," Yingst said. "The link between our farmers and urban dwellers is vital in continued efforts to extend economic opportunity and accelerate economic progress throughout the state. We are partners in economic progress, supporting one another in our daily lives."

Legislature Works To Expand Lebanon Meat Processing

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Two Lebanon County representatives this week stated success in getting their respective legislative bodies to support funding of a loan for the expansion of a meat processing business within the county.

Also in legislative news, Shelia Miller, representative-elect for the 129th District, and outgoing executive director of the Senate Agricultural and Rural Affairs Committee, said that it appears as though nutrient management legislation will not be officially acted upon until next year.

For the past two weeks and for two days this coming week, both bodies of the state General Assembly will have been working under limited session time to consider a number of pieces of legislation before breaking again for Thanksgiving. There should also be some limited work in December prior to breaking for Christmas and New Year's Day.

Because of elections, legislative work before the full bodies was recessed for some time, leaving little time now to get work done.

However, there are some items getting through for upcoming full consideration.

As far as attempts to secure state funding for a local meat processing plant, both State Sen. David "Chip" Brightbill, R-Palmyra, and outgoing Rep. Edward Anrold, D-Lebanon, announced this week that they sponsored pieces of legislation which obstensibly does the same thing — provides $1.75 million in state aid to Murry's Inc., of Lebanon for an expansion which will create a minimum of 200 full time jobs.

Brightbill originally sponsored legislation which provided a $1 million loan from the fund to be used by Murry's toward a $12 million processing and distribution center in Lebanon.

The House passed similar legislation in June.

Instead of fighting to gain full credit for the funding, the Senate Appropriations Committee adopted a Brightbill-proposed amendment to the House bill which would add $750,000 to the amount benefitting the meat processing and distribution business.

At the same time, in the House, outgoing Rep. Arnold sponsored similar legislation which would do the same thing — draw on the state Sunny Day Fund for an additional $750,000 to the loan.

"I am very pleased that the Senate Appropriations Committee has adopted the Murry's language to a House-passed bill," Brightbill said in a statement.

"Because we are near the end of the legislative session, amending the House bill will insure quick action and that the increased Sunny Day Fund loan for Murry's will become a reality."

In a statement from Arnold, who credits some other local representatives with cosponsorship, "I am pleased the House has acted swiftly on this legislation that is important for the future economic development of Lebanon County."

The enlargement of the loan was deemed necessary because of site relocation for Murry's proposed 80,000-square foot facility.

The site was originally to be in the Lebanon Enterprise Zone. However, because of a soil problem, according to Arnold and Brightbill, that site was scrapped.

The planned facility will add to the company's existing 310 person workforce. The new facility is for the company's cooking operations, processing chops, chicken nuggets, suasages and steaks.

Additionally, according to Arnold, the company now intends to invest more than $12 million to complete the facility, pending approval of the legislative loan.

In other agricultural legislative business, Rep.-elect Miller, R-Host, said that nutrient management legislation, which has been under review by the Senate Agricultural and Rural Affairs Committee for most of the year, has been moving closer to a resolution of the differences between the environmentally focused groups and pro-agriculture groups.

Miller said that she was able to work on the legislation and meet with representatives of the various groups to try to hammer out the differences.

Although a complete settlement between the sides is not certain, Miller said, "We will continue to work on through December and hope to be ready to go in January. I'm sure it will get early consideration next year."

Some of the information she said is awaiting is findings from a study she requested of Penn State Extension that they look at and provide a reasonable estimate for the number of farms to be involved, depending on which parameters are used.

There may also some other ways to determine the extent of farms affected and which characteristics should be used to monitor the potential nutrient pollution from a farm.

Miller said that as a freshman representative, she knows she won't have the pull to get through something as monumental as local tax reform, but she is seeking an appointment on the House Ag and Rural Affairs Committee.

She said she also intends to continue to work on meaningful, and reasonable nutrient management legislation and environmental legislation that is effective but also doesn't "put business out of business."

In other legislative areas, she said she wants to work on a program that would encourage young farmers to get into and stay in business.

Cattlemen Anticipate Favorable Fed

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The nation's cattle producers look forward to participating in the Clinton administration as key policy decisions impacting the cattle business are made, the National Cattlemen's Association said recently.

"We welcome the opportunity to brief not only the members of the new administration, but the new congressional members as well," said NCA President Jimmie Wilson, Trout Creek, Mont.

"We look forward to cooperating with the Clinton administration to accomplish NCA's mission to advance the economic, political and social interests of NCA members and the U.S. cattle industry. With so many new people in both the Congress and the administration, that mission will be an exciting challenge as we work to educate all of them about the importance of the beef cattle business to society, the economy and the environment in a short period of time," Wilson said.

Cattle producers in Arkansas have first hand experience in working with Bill Clinton.

"As governor, Bill Clinton has been very supportive of Arkansas cattlemen in state issues, such as brucellosis control and natural disasters," said Leland Jackson, Ash Flat, Ark., president of the Arkansas Cattlemen's Association. "We have had a superior working relationship with him. Agriculture has a friend in Bill Clinton."

NCA Regional Vice President John McKnight, Searcy, Ark., said that as governor, Bill Clinton has relied on farm leaders for input into agriculture policy.

"He has had an open door policy and is responsive to agriculture. I would fully expect that to continue on the national level," McKnight said. "Because of his Arkansas background, whatever his main thrust is as president, I don't believe that agriculture will ever be sacrificed at the expense of other programs. I feel we in agriculture will get just and fair treatment whatever the future holds."

Among President-elect Clinton's first order of business will be to make cabinet appointments as well as name candidates to other key administration positions, Wilson said. There are more than 4,000 political appointments for the Clinton administration to fill.

"We will monitor the process and provide input at every opportunity, supporting and promoting candidates wherever we can," Wilson said.

The first 100 days of the 103rd Congress will be the most critical for a Clinton administration. "Clinton will likely hit the ground running on an economic growth package and health care reform," Wilson said. "This could be the litmus test on how effective Clinton will be in getting his agenda through Congress."

Wilson said that the 103rd Congress will also take action on reauthorization of both the Endangered Species Act and the Clean Water Act, the North American Free Trade Agreement, and an anticipated attempt to increase grazing fees on federal lands.

President-elect Clinton will also attempt to finalize negotiations on a General Agreement on Tariff and Trade. This anticipated action makes NCA membership more important than ever, he said.

"The record-setting voter turnout in the 1992 election sends a clear message to both the administration and Congress that the American people will be more involved in the political process, Wilson said.

"This means that cattlemen will be competing with more people than ever in getting our message to policy makers. Our success will depend on a strong, united association. I challenge each NCA member to get neighboring cattlemen to join both state cattlemen's association and the NCA to be assured of an effective voice in Washington, D.C."

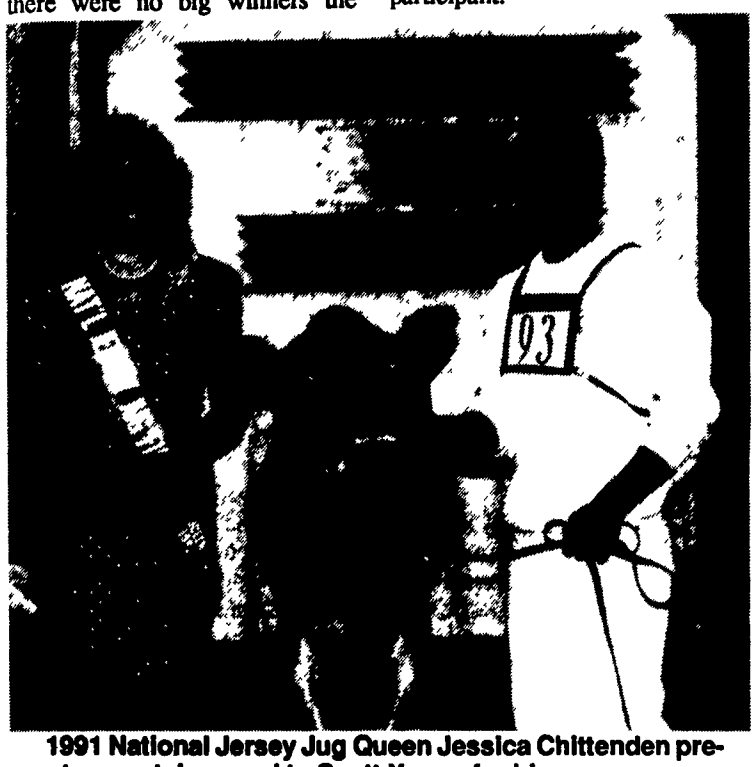
Jersey Juniors Compete In National

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Over twenty Pennsylvania youth travelled to Louisville, Kentucky, to compete in the All American Jersey Show. While there were no big winners the juniors gave a positive representation of Pennsylvania Jerseys.

This year, for the first time, the showmanship competition in the junior show was open to any participant.



1991 National Jersey Jug Queen Jessica Chittenden presents a protein award to Scott Youse for his summer yearling Bryant Hill Bold Hickory which placed fifth in the national junior show.

Pennsylvania juniors were big participants in this contest, with Thomas Greenleaf, of Martinsburg, winning the first runner-up honor in the senior divison. Other individual winners included Scott Youse, from Oley, and Matt Furry, from Guys Mills, whose entries picked up protein awards in the contest.

Youse's heifer, Bryant Hill Bold Hickory, was selected the protein award winner in the summer yearling class, while Furry's heifer, Spring Rock Destiny's Dana, won the award in the senior yearling in milk class.

Top placings in the show were Holly Carbaugh, Franklin County, second place intermediate calf in the open show; Matt Furry, third place senior yearling in milk in the Junior Show; Scott Youse, fifth place summer yearling in the junior show; Tom Greenleaf, eighth place intermediate yearling, in the junior show, ninth place in the open show; Sasha Harris, Bradford County, eighth tion techniques at the Lancaster Groundwater Policy Education Project Conference on Tuesday. The conference drew about 150 representatives from farming and other industries, as well as municipal planners and engineers, to speak about the importance of groundwater hydrology and protection.

Nelson said that the issue must be dealt with locally, because groundwater protection "cuts across municipal boundaries." He explained an array of techniques that could be used to plan and implement wellhead protection strategies that can be used in increasing order of complexity and cost.

Groundwater quality

Nelson provided examples of communities in several areas of central Pennsylvania and the eastern shore of Virginia that implement strategies that have done quite a lot of improve groundwater quality.

Nelson emphasized the need to understand the complete hydrological makeup of the land, possible threats at the land surface (including stored material), historical threats from past or future land uses, zoning areas and how they impinge on groundwater protection, and to properly identify possible future threats.

Nelson said that underground storage tanks, used at gas stations, have been identified as the number one threat to water quality, according to the Department of Environmental Resources (DER). Other threats include mixing sites for pesticides and fertilizers, landfills, septic tank systems (which, according to Nelson, contribute largely to nitrate pollution in groundwater), and other sources of contamination.

But all concerns should be site-specific and need to be treated accordingly.

Mark Nelson, senior hydrologist from Horsley Witten Hegemann, Inc., Cambridge, Mass., spoke about tools for groundwater and wellhead protection techniques at the Lancaster Groundwater Policy Education Project Conference on Tuesday.

Virginia Thompson, chief of the groundwater protection section of the EPA Region III, spoke about examples of local cooperative efforts that aided in the study and improvement of groundwater quality.

Groundwater currents and flow are completely understandable to those who want to plan wellhead locations, according to Dr. Walter Ebaugh, president of Nittany Geosciences, Inc.

Currents understandable

Groundwater currents and flow are completely understandable to those who want to plan wellhead locations, according to Dr. Walter Ebaugh, president of Nittany Geosciences, Inc., State College. Ebaugh explained basic groundwater hydrology and the importance of knowing where the groundwater originates and how it flows.

Ebaugh also explained the differences between the water-table well (which is located at the baseflow of the water table, according to specific site) and artesian wells (which are located deep in the earth, in the layers of limestone in this region).

The direction and rate of water flow is calculable — and the locations of wells can sometimes be determined accurately from photo surveys conducted by aircraft. The location of a well must take in many factors, including the layout of the land, which provide reliable clues to how groundwater originates and flows.

In planning a wellhead, the "cone of depression," or area surrounding the wellhead, affects on groundwater flow. When the well is located down a slope to a stream or waterway, the groundwater tends to follow the layout of the land, and ultimately feeds the baseflow of a stream. When a well is in place, the water is often driven away from the stream baseflow into the cone of depression and up through the well.

Proper location

Some of the problems that wellhead managers may see can be prevented by the proper location of the well. Ebaugh also presented ways to solve problems when wellwater becomes contaminated, including direct source removal, containing and isolation, fixation, or by bioremediation (using bacteria to clean up toxic chemicals that may be present in wells).

Virginia Thompson, chief of the groundwater protection section of EPA Region III, spoke about examples of local cooperative efforts that aided in the study and improvement of groundwater quality.

Thompson said that "groundwater flows among municipalities," and that, for any groundwater quality program to work, "perseverance and the spirit of cooperation are required."

Thompson spoke about the Pequea-Mill Creek project and the Rural Clean Water Program projects recently undertaken in Lancaster County and the reasons for their success. "Water quality protection is not easy to do if not all of the people are involved," she said. "The more people that are involved in the beginning, the more successful your efforts will be."

The conference also featured workshops that allowed groups from various municipalties to share their problems and ways of working toward groundwater solutions.

Legume Pesticides

A short time ago 5,000 scientists from throughout the U.S. and Canada met at Minneapolis MN for the 84th annual meeting of the American Society of Agronomy. As you might expect the subjects discussed during the 4 day conference covered a wide range of topics. Many were very technical. But there were also plenty of papers with information of immediate interest and use to you. In today's column I'd like to zero in on just one series of papers dealing with a subject of concern to all of us--how to improve stand longevity of forage legumes.

But first let's consider what you as a producer expect from your forage legumes. Over the years I've asked many farmers, like yourself, and they generally agree on three points; high-yield, high quality forage, and persistent stands. And for many persistence or stand longevity ranked at the top.

So let's try to sum up what several of our top scientists had to say regarding this issue. And, as you might expect most, but certainly not all, of their remarks centered around alfalfa.

To begin with, poor persistence for many legumes is an international problem according to Dr. A. G. Matches of Texas Tech University. Matches recently headed up a Trilateral Legume Persistence Workshop involving workers in Australia, New Zealand and the U.S.A. All agreed, he said, that we simply may be trying to extend legumes beyond their limits of adaptation. In the Eastern U.S. for example, how often are we guilty of establishing alfalfa on soils that are too wet, too acid, or too low in fertility? And then we criticize the legume when it disappears. Improved new technology for breeding and germplasm selection will expand opportunities for more successful legume production, Matches concluded.

Forage breeders Drs. Joe Bouton, University of Georgia, and Mark McCaslin, Forage Genetics, agreed. Bouton, who developed alfa-graze alfalfa, listed several factors including unfavorable temperature and moisture; inadequate soil pH and fertility; disease, insect and nematode pests; competition from aggressive companion grasses; and the harshness of the overall grazing environment as contributing to the inability of alfalfa to maintain a productive stand. Both breeding and management research, he said, are underway to modify or overcome these factors.

Plant breeders have long focused alfalfa breeding efforts on improving two key components of persistence; disease resistance and winter hardiness, according to McCaslin, breeder of a number of multiple pest resistance alfalfa varieties. "In the last decade," he said, "considerable progress has been made in improving multiple disease resistance. However, there has been little improvement in winter-hardiness."

Relative to winter-hardiness Minnesota workers noted that cold-tolerance is a primary component of alfalfa winter hardiness. In this regard they noted that the plant size, measured as crown width, appears to be a factor influencing alfalfa cold-tolerance.

But, according to L.H. Rhodes, Ohio State University, disease is one of the major factors affecting persistence of perennial forage legumes. Over the past five decades, he said, improvements in disease resistance characteristics of alfalfa have resulted in varieties which have the capability to persist in geographical regions where diseases such as bacterial wilt, phytophthora root rot and other diseases previously caused severe stand depletion. Referring to red clover, Rhodes agreed that diseases, along the clover root curculio, are most often stated as the reason for the short life of the legume.

Insects, both above and below ground, also affect the life of a stand through plant/seed mortality, delayed development, and retarded growth, according to University of Maryland Entomologist W.O. Lamp. However, he said, crop management practices may be manipulated to significantly reduce insect-induced damage to the crop.

Dr. C. C. Sheaffer, University of Minnesota Agronomist, had much more to say about the role of management strategies to improve legume persistence. Frequency, height and timing of defoliation all have a significant effect on legume persistence, Sheaffer says, by influencing leaf area and carbohydrate reserves sites for vegetation and floral initiation and competition with associated nonlegumes in mixtures. Deficiencies of essential plant nutrients or excess of toxic elements also have a dramatic effect on legume persistence.

Another important factor relating to persistence for many legumes is hard seed. There are many factors which influence the percentage of hard seeds and the degree of hardness. And while excessive amounts of hard seeds, especially with alfalfa, are sometimes a concern workers agree that hard seeds can be, and are, very beneficial for filling in where old plants disappear.

Summing up this special session Missouri's C.J. Nelson, a leading forage physiologist, stated "Stand longevity of forage legumes, nationwide and worldwide, is critical for sustained productivity in natural and agricultural ecosystems. Much progress has been made in understanding the factors of persistence and in developing breeding and management strategies to optimize each legume species based on its specific characteristics. And researchers will continue to stress the importance of legume persistence with respect to forage potential, animal production, environmental issues, and economics.

Finally let's put this in perspective for your situation in terms of today's knowledge relative to legume persistence or longevity. First use sound cropping systems for your farm and choose legume species that are most likely to persist under your soil and environmental conditions. Second, correct pH and fertility problems before establishing new legume stands. Third, select adapted multiple pest resistant varieties best suited for your needs. And then use a management strategy to keep your legume stands productive and persistent.

Production, persistent perennial legume and legume-grass stands are vital to the economical production of animal products. We don't have all of the answers, but by taking advantage of the knowledge we do have you can make legumes more profitable in your forage livestock system.

Raleigh County Couple Wins Conservation Farm Contest

MORGANTOWN, W.Va. — Ray and Reba Plumley, of Shady Springs, won the 1992 West Virginia Conservation Farm Award at the recent West Virginia Soil and Water Conservation District Supervisor's Association annual meeting.

Arlie Kittle of Cameron, W.Va. won second place, while Edward Talbott of Glenville came in third.

The conservation farm contest recognizes the farms and families who are doing an outstanding job of conserving and managing the natural resources on property that they farm. Any farmer who is a cooperator with the local Soil Conservation District is eligible to compete in the contest, except the district supervisors, members of the State Soil Conservation Agency, and past state winners.

Second place winners Arlie and Jean Kittle raise cattle and sheep on 244 acres in Marshall County. They were nominated by the Northern Panhandle Soil Conservation District.

Third place winners Ed and Mabel Talbott also operate a cattle operation. Their 400 acre farm in Gilmer County was nominated by the West Fork Soil Conservation District.

Farm House Renovations Endanger Children's Lives

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

MANCHESTER (York County) — Warning: Renovating your old home could be hazardous to your children.

Kathy and Troy Zirkle would like young parents to be more aware of that.

Like many young couples, Kathy and Troy spent much of the early years of their marriage renovating their home. The spacious farmhouse on the couple's Manchester dairy farm is two centuries old, built in 1792.

But the renovations came to an abrupt halt last spring, when the Zirkle's became concerned that their children might have been exposed to high levels of environmental lead.

"We've been working on the house all along," Kathy says of the ongoing changes to the house since their marriage and move to the farm in 1984. Much of the renovating involved the sanding, stripping and restaining of old paint on woodwork, window frames and doors in the bedrooms of the home's second story. Remodeling of the kitchen, with cupboards custom crafted by Kathy's father, Albert Neufeld, was completed last spring.

Troy and his father, Doll, farm in partnership on the family farm near Strinestown, with a 62-head dairy herd and 250 acres in feed crops. Kathy and Troy live on the partnership's heifer-raising facility, their lovely home set back a long, private lane and surrounded by rolling fields.

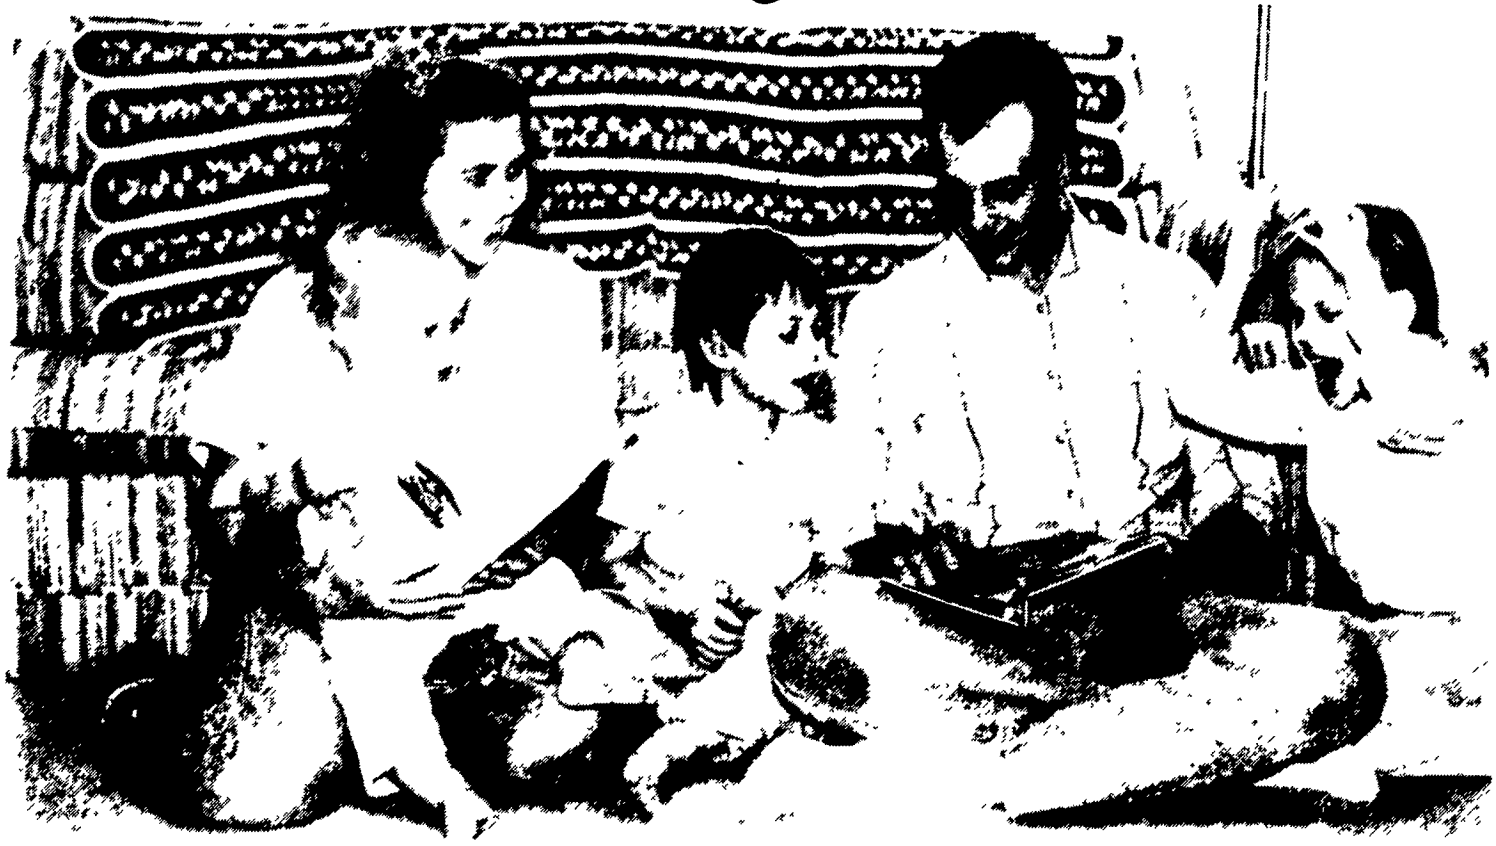
About three years ago, their daughter Bethany, now 5, suddenly became ill with seizures. She was hospitalized for a few days while doctors flushed her system, suspecting that she had ingested some substance that had caused the violent reaction.

But no substance was ever pinpointed and the cause of the little girl's health crisis was never determined. It was a terrifying period for the young farm couple, especially when they noticed that the illness seemed to have had some slowing effect on her speech development.

"I used to go sleep in her room sometimes, just to hear her breathe and make sure she was alright," says this young mother of three, recalling how frightened she had been for their daughter.

Early in their marriage, Kathy and Troy decided that television was not going to be part of their family life. Books, games and time spent with the children have always been preferred family pastimes in the Zirkle home.

Through being read to at a very early age, the children quickly mastered childhood learning benchmarks like colors, numbers and identifying animals. Bethany, 5, Bryan, 3, and even Martin, 16 months, are quick to cluster around the story books frequently added to their collection.



The Zirkles have no television in their home, preferring to spend that time reading and playing games with their children. Baby Martin snuggles close to Kathy while Bethany and Bryan share a book with Troy.

As their family grew and time permitted, house remodeling continued. With most of the upstairs bedroom area refinishing complete, work moved downstairs to the kitchen. It was while the woodwork was being stripped in the kitchen last February that a neighbor, familiar with the Zirkles' renovating, called with a near-frantic message to stop the paint removal.

"She has a son whose family lives in Boston," explains Kathy. "They'd been working on their house and their children were tested and found to have high lead levels in their blood. The city made them move into an apartment until the lead levels dropped."

The Zirkles immediately decided they wanted to have their children tested for possible exposure to lead and contacted their family physician for advice.

"He said we were his first patients to even ask about lead testing," Kathy remembers. He suggested they contact the State Health Clinic.

The first tests, which involved a finger-prick for a small blood sample, had a few-day wait for the results. In the meantime, Troy and Kathy tried to learn all they could about potential danger to children from environmental lead exposure.

Blood levels of lead are measured in minute amounts, of micrograms per dekaliter. A microgram is one millionth of a gram; a dekaliter is 10 liters or 2.64 gallons. According to information from the State Health Center in York, a lead concentration level over 10 micrograms is of concern, a level 20 or higher should generate a complete medical evaluation and a level of 45 calls for treatment within 48 hours. At level 70, a child would be hospitalized immediately for treatment.

Lead-based paint saw widespread use through the 1940s. Some lead-based paint continued to be produced up into the 1970s, although the lead concentration was generally much lower.

Housedust contaminated with lead from paints is now recognized as a major contribution to high blood lead levels in children. Ingestion of it is often from normal hand-to-mouth habits of small children. Children who habitually ingest unusual substances, such as grass or soil, who pick at paint chips or chew on furniture and cribs, are at higher risk for lead contamination.

Homes of small children in which renovations are being made that will generate dust from old paints should first undergo testing of those surfaces to determine if lead is present.

According to materials from the State Health Center, "children who have unexplained seizures, neurological symptoms, abdominal pain or others that are consistent with lead poisoning should also have their blood lead levels measured. In addition, the possibility of lead poisoning should be considered in any child with growth failure, developmental delay, hyperactivity, behavior disorders, hearing loss, anemia, etc."

When the first test results came back, Bethany's blood lead level was 27; Bryan's was 32.

Gravely concerned over likely dust particles still remaining in the house from the stripping of the old paint, Kathy scrubbed "every inch" with a household cleaning agent. They high-pressure-washed the basement. And for several months, Kathy cleaned with a special, heavy-duty vacuum cleaner borrowed from her parents.

In June, the Zirkles had the State Health Center test the wood in their home, utilizing meters which register levels of lead given off the surfaces. Those surfaces that had been stripped of the old paint still showed fairly high levels of lead, due to the lead having seeped into the wood over the decades.

"We've learned that it's better to just paint over the old paint, using oil-based material, than it is to sand and disturb old paint that's high in lead," says Troy.

"Lead poisoning is a real potential problem in rural America, but how do we deal with that?" he worries. "Any house of any age is going to have lead paint in it."

Helen Hall, R.N., a community health nurse with York offices of the State Health Center, concurs.

"It's all around, in the cities, in the counties, from houses about 20 years old," she says. "Children can pick up lead from touching windowsills and frames and putting their fingers in their mouth. They can get it from crayons, from newspapers. Parents can carry lead home from their jobs or their hobbies, on clothing, shoes, even on their hair."

While public health officials acknowledge "lots" of lead poisoning problems in York city, Hall reports about ten cases that she is aware of around rural York County.

"Children under age five are most susceptible," adds the State Health Center nurse. "They have the habits most likely to cause lead poisoning; they're teething and chewing on things."

She recommends that parents suspecting lead problems have testing done either through their family physicians or at an outpatient laboratory. Only one test is necessary to determine the lead concentration level in a child's blood.

Based on the Zirkles' experiences, Troy suggests that parents request their physicians to recommend the testing for diagnostic purposes, if the local health clinic does not test. Most comprehensive health insurances will cover diagnostic tests. A blood lead test, he adds, costs about $120.

By simply being aware of the lead poisoning potential of old houses, parents can help avoid possible problems by postponing house renovations until children are older.

"Paint, don't strip," advises Kathy. "And get a good quality vacuum cleaner." While a few portions of their home still have not been renovated, the Zirkles are uncertain if they will ever chance disturbing old lead-laden materials to complete the work.

After the initial finger-prick tests, more intensive blood tests were run on all three of the Zirkle children. Bryan has had a total of four blood tests and Bethany, three. Bryan's second test showed a 42 blood lead level, then dropped with additional tests; Bethany's follow-up tests also showed decreasing lead levels. Martin's test was only slightly above normal. Bethany, who preschool tested just slightly behind her age level in a few skills, currently attends the York Easter Seal School.

While they may never complete the few remaining renovations, Troy and Kathy still worry about possible long-term effects on their children. They also deal with the "what-ifs" — the guilt most parents face at some time worrying if they should have done something differently.

"Our faith in Christ has helped us a lot," affirms Troy. "That gives us peace. I don't know where else we would turn if we didn't have that."

Through their involvement in Atlantic Dairy Cooperative's Young Cooperator dairy activities, the Zirkles have met other young couples who voice similar concerns about lead poisoning potential to small children living in old rural homes. They believe it is a health issue that needs more public awareness around rural America.

Parents concerned about possible high blood lead levels in their children are urged to contact their family physicians or local public health clinics for more information.

Kathy and Troy study results of their children's blood tests for lead. Consecutive tests have shown a decline in the levels.

Homestead Notes

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

Nostalgia always weighs pretty heavy on my mind this time of year.

Maybe it's the finality of the golden leaves cascading about the house, tumbling about in the wind in a last festive dance to the ground, piling up to crunch and crackle underfoot.

Maybe it's the fragrance of woodsmoke, curling from the chimney on a crisp morning, while the sun inches over the eastern fields to shatter a pinkish-orange morning sky.

Maybe its gathering the last colorful chrysanthemums, treasured remnants of summer's blessings, to add a cheerful touch to the kitchen table.

For whatever reason, the seasonal nostalgia stirs turkey memories.

Those turkeys were an experiment that first year, a fun challenge for the kids and us alike. We just wanted to see if we could raise a couple of our own holiday birds.

Any turkey hunter can attest to the cleverness, the elusiveness, the street-smarts (er, forest smarts) of the wild turkey. But, domestic turkeys are sometimes plain down stupid.

A domestic turkey poult lacks the sense to come in out of the rain. Literally. Scares at the drop of a hat and fleas into a corner with a couple dozen frigthened flockmates, likely smothering the unfortunate birds on the bottom.

I equate them with our resident guinea fowl, the size of their heads in comparison to their bodies being indicative of their I.Q. level. And turkeys and guineas have small heads.

So, when we'd coddled our first dozen or so turkey chicks beyond fluffy infancy and into the feathering of early adolescence, we took pride in having at least raised them past the crisis stage. By then, of course, they were large enough not to be easily snagged by mother cats with hungry kittens.

So the turkeys got the run of the farm. They'd make their daily trips around the meadow and to the garden, scratching for worms and bugs, finding tidbits along their travels. A favorite treat was the contests that collected daily in the trough of the electronic bug zapper in the calf nursery. When the day's catch of flies and moths were dumped out, the turkeys would scramble for their shares like kids around a broken pinata.

More than once, drivers along our little country road would have to slow for a little flock of turkeys meandering along the side — or up the center. It was a favorite spot to pick up the bits of grit and gravel that all birds need for their digestive processes — no scratching, just hunt and peck.

This turkey nostalgia always makes me smile. At least until I dig a little deeper into the memories.

Like their roosting habits.

Turkeys, by nature, like to sit up high, probably a throwback to ancestral instincts. Wild turkeys, of course, still roost in trees, while domestic ones are usually too plump to execute successful takeoffs.

Still, our turkeys manged to find their way up onto raised sites on which they were not at all welcome.

Like automobiles. One young friend who then worked for us had a prized, sporty Mustang. He was not at all happy — nor were we — when turkey tracks turned up all over his favorite car.

And where there are turkey tracks, there is also turkey... "residue."

None of us much cared for such decorative effects on our vehicles.

Nor did I appreciate their roosting on the bannister of the back porch. A half-dozen 30-pound turkeys messin' up the porch is six too many.

Their persistent habit of inhabiting the dairy barn, though, finally "did in" our raise-your-own-holiday-dinner venture. Those turkeys knew to the minute when The Farmer fed corn - and daily showed up like clockwork to claim their share. Again, leaving behind abundant residue.

I recently bought a turkey - cleaned, dressed, ready to roast. Paid about the same price as the cost of one infant turkey.

We can't afford to raise our own turkeys.

Thanks, turkey growers. And a blessed Thanksgiving!

York Extension Honors Ag Educator

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

NEW BRIDGEVILLE (York Co.) — A retired agriculture educator has been honored for his contributions to the work of the York Cooperative Extension Association.

Charles C. Drawbaugh received the Outstanding Extension Involvement award as a highlight of the group's annual meeting and dinner, held November 13 at the New Bridgeville Fire Hall.

Drawbaugh, a York County native, received his doctorate degree from Penn State and is a retired professor emeritus of Agriculture Education with Rutgers University. Early in his 35-year educational career, he was the vocational agriculture teacher at Dover High School. After retiring in 1985, he returned to the Dover area.

Though retired, Drawbaugh continues his role of agriculture educator as an enthusiastic volunteer. He serves on the York Extension's board of directors, the York Fair, and works with community groups in horticulture education.

In 1986, Drawbaugh joined forces with York Extension horticulture specialist Tom Becker to start the Master Gardener program. The program trains gardening volunteers, who in turn teach others and organize community garden-related activities. Drawbaugh continues to assist with York's Master Gardener program, now in its seventh year of leader training.

His advice on composting is carried by York Cable 4's "Yard Waste Show," and he has developed a slide program on composting methods.

He has taught pruning to local township officials, parliamentary procedures to 4-H youth leaders, and time management and stewardship to the Mount Royal United Methodist Church where he and his wife Ruth attend.

"Within Extension, his impact extends across 4-H, agriculture, community development and family living," said Extension president Sue Dutrey, in presenting the award to Drawbaugh.

A salute to volunteers by York Extension Service included special presentations to these 4-H leaders whose combined service is more than 200 years. Seated are Theda and Wayne Jacoby; standing, from left, are Bess and Fred Hutschenreuter, Sharon Ebaugh, Bill Dietz and Bill Holloway.

Charles Drawbaugh, left, was honored by the York Cooperative Extension Service for his outstanding service to the extension program. Making the presentation were Tom Becker, horticulture agent, and extension president Sue Dutrey.

Regional farm management specialist Roland Freund was recognized as a recipient of the Distinguished Service Award from the National Association of County Agents. The recognition, by nomination of his peers, was for the numerous farm management and financial programs Freund has developed. His award was presented earlier this year at the organization's national meeting in Arkansas.

In keeping with the meeting's theme of volunteerism, several extension volunteers with 25 years or more of service were honored for their leadership and dedication.

William Holloway, a livestock judging team coach in Chester and York counties, was recognized for his 34 years as a 4-H leader. Sharon Ebaugh, leader with the Southern Lamb Club and Airville community club, was honored for her 32 years of service. William Dietz, Beef Club leader and active with fund-raising, has served 27 years.

Two couples received recognition for both individual and combined years of service to Extension. Bessie and Fred Hutschenreuter, with a combined 59 years of leadership, worked with the Airville 4-H community club, 4-H auction and project activity. Theda and Wayne Jacoby have a combined service of 52 years as leaders of numerous activities including Stoverstown club, 4-H Center board, 4-H auction and senior exchange.

Serving as extension 4-H volunteers for a quarter-century or more were also Mary Marstellar, Stewartstown; Irvin Rappoldt, Glen Rock; Margaret Anne Boyd, Winterstown-Felton; Amy Debnam, Hanover; Jane Flaharty, Airville; Helen Horn, Thomasville; Wayne Stough and Donald Walters, Beef Club.

SAFE TURKEY SHORTCUTS

Let's face it. Sometime between Thanksgiving and New Year's Day, turkey will find its way onto your menu. And because time is one thing you do not have much of during the holidays, you will be looking for shortcuts. The good news is that there are shortcuts you can take without risking an outbreak of foodborne illness.

Save time this year by deciding what kind of turkey you want before you go shopping.

If finding the right-sized bird is critical, buy a frozen one early and save yourself the trouble of running from store to store Thanksgiving week. Keep the turkey frozen until you are ready to thaw and cook it. To operate safely, a freezer should register 0 degrees F. or lower.

If you don't want a large turkey taking up space in your refrigerator for 4 or 5 days while it thaws, order a fresh bird ahead of time and pick it up 1 to 2 days before you will be cooking it.

Catering to customer desire for convenience, many supermarkets will be selling pre-stuffed, whole turkeys. While these birds will be marketed as a timesaver, from a food safety standpoint they can cause problems.

Why? Because raw turkey and stuffing ingredients are highly perishable. Furthermore, when a turkey is stuffed, incubator-like conditions develop in the cavity which can promote bacterial growth. In a home refrigerator, it is nearly impossible to keep the stuffing inside a pre-stuffed turkey below 40 degrees F. the tmeperature belwow which most bacteria will not grow.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture does not recommend purchase of whole, stuffed fresh poultry. Consider stuffed and ready-to-cook items like boneless chicken breasts, veal and pork chops as quick alternatives. But carefully follow the "best used by" dating to ensure food safety and quality.

Of course, the ultimate shortcut is pre-cooked turkey. But pre-cooked birds must be carefully handled too. The best approach is simply to serve it immediately. Eating right away also assures the best quality, as cooked meat often develops an off or warmed-over flavor when reheated.

If you don't want to serve the turkey immediately, then it must be cooled down quickly to below 40 degrees F. It's impossible to rapid-cool a whole turkey in a standard home refrigerator. So, if the turkey is stuffed, first remove the stuffing and place it in a shallow container. Remove the meat from the carcass and wrap it in small packages. The meat can be stored in the refrigerator for 3 to 4 days; the stuffing for 1 or 2 days.

When reheatiung, preheat the oven to 350 degrees F. and plan on 10 minutes per pound so that the meat reaches a temperature of 160 degrees F.

Many holiday recipes offer time-saving tips. Some of these timesavers are dangerous from a food safety standpoint.

Turkey recipes that promote long cooking at a very low temperature (250 degress F. or lower) are not recommended. Because of the low temperature, the turkey (and stuffing) might take more than 4 hours to reach a temperature high enough to destory bacteria, and could therefore be unsafe. The quality of the turkey might suffer too. During prolonged cooking some areas would tend to become dry.

A safe way to cut cooking time is to use a commercial roasting bag. This can save you an hour or more, depending on the size of the bird. Plus, you can save an additional half hour of cooking time by not stuffing your bird. Using your microwave to cook the turkey is another time-saver, but don't try to microwave a stuffed bird. That is not safe because a stuffed bird is too dense for microwaving to assure thorough cooking.

For questions on the safe handling, storage, and preparation of turkey, and other meat and poultry products, call the Meat and Poultry Hotline, toll-free, 800-535-4555. Hours, 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. EST.

Keep Weigh Of Life Simple

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) — Weight maintenance is often difficult over the holiday season because food is the main part of a social gathering.

To help you through the holidays, Berks County Cooperative Extension is holding a weight maintenance program on November 23, from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Strategies for maintaining weight, nutritional information, healthier ways of cooking, and ideas for exercise and support groups will be given.

Program is free but advance reservations should be made. Call the Extension office at (215) 378-1327.

Thanksgiving Dinner To Remember

Turkey and trimmings for Thanksgiving dinner? Of course.

But this year try bending tradition a bit by serving an out-of-the ordinary stuffing. Or, how about trying lamb and stuffing?

Add cranberry salad, sweet potatoes, and pumpkin pie or other pumpkin desserts to complete your meal.

Try these recipes for a Happy Thanksgiving!

There's more than one way to stuff a bird, but you can't go wrong if you use one of the stuffing recipes printed in this column.

ANSWER — Audrey Queitzsch wrote that her daughter who lives in Saudi Arabia wanted a soft pretzel recipe. Thanks to C. Reiff, Lititz; Patricia Haycock, Edinburg, Va.; and others for sending recipes.

Soft Pretzels

2 tablespoons yeast
1½ cups warm water
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons brown sugar
4½ cups flour

Dissolve yeast in warm water; add salt and brown sugar. Stir in flour and knead 5 minutes. Roll and form into a pretzel shape.

Dip pretzels in a boiling baking soda solution of 4 tablespoons baking soda and 3 cups water. Place on a towel. Remove from towel and place on a cookie sheet and allow to rise 5 minutes. Bake 15 to 20 minutes at 350 degrees.

Yummy Soft Pretzels

1 package dry yeast
1 teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons sugar
4 cups flour
1 egg beaten well
Coarse salt

Soften yeast in 1½ cups lukewarm water in a large bowl. Add salt and sugar; mix in flour with your hands. Knead to form a soft ball of dough. Do not allow dough to rise. Cut at once into small pieces. Roll into ropes and shape into pretzels. Cover cookie sheet with foil. Dust foil well with flour and place pretzels on the sheet. Brush with egg. Sprinkle with coarse salt. Bake at 400 degrees for 15 minutes. Yields 2 to 4 dozen pretzels.

Pat writes that the secret to making soft pretzels is not to overbake them. She bakes hers under 15 minutes because she likes them really soft. But be sure the dough is done, she cautions.

ANSWER — Mary Ellen Spotts, Boyertown, wanted a recipe for sweet potato pie. Thanks to the Daniel Haycock family from Edinburg, Va., for sending a recipe. The Haycocks write that Daniel and his son Adam work the land with two teams of draft mules. They like country cooking and spending winter evenings reading Lancaster Farming. Pat Haycock wrote that this "olden day" pie has a subtle taste because older cooks believed that nutmeg, cinnamon and other spices should be left to the pumpkin pie people. "The older cooks sure knew what they were talkin' about," writes Pat Haycock who believes that the sweet potato pie must be made with pure vanilla to be at its best. Also, thanks to Mrs. Thomas Brooks of Bridgeton, N.J., who writes that her father raised sweet potatoes until a stroke four years ago and now her husband raises them. She sent in several of the family's favorite sweet potato recipes.

Li'l Miss Lebanon Dairy Miss Busy With Chores

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — Six-year-old Janelle Zimmerman has a big job and an exciting one. As the Lebanon County Li'l Dairy Miss, she hands out milk, ice cream, cheese, and scratch and sniff stickers in order to tell others about the goodness of milk.

Sometimes she rides in parades. Sometimes she plays Bingo with those in retirement homes. All these activities are part of the duties for wearing the tiara and banner of the Lebanon County Li'l Miss. It's her duty to assist Lebanon County Dairy Princess Angela Baker with dairy promotional duties in the county.

It isn't a hard job, but a fun job, according to Janelle who lives on a dairy farm with her parents Jay Calvin and Thelma, and brothers Jeff, 14; Jared, 9; and Jason, 4.

She works at home too. And, those chores are also fun she said.

Her daddy said, "Janelle is a big helper. She loves to feed the calves on the farm and help her mother in the kitchen."

Janelle especially likes to help cook. One of her favorite recipes is making creamy finger Jell-O. When the Jell-O is firm, Janelle cuts it into cow shapes with a cookie cutter. Here is the recipe that her mother developed. The whole family devours it and Janelle is certain that you will want to try it.

To become the Lebanon County Li'l Dairy Miss, Janelle had to appear in a pageant with other contestants. They answered questions before an audience. Janelle made a poster that described her life on the farm and the many products that are made from milk. She recited this poem that her parents helped her adapt from another poem.

The Friendly Cow

"The friendly cow all black and white, I love with all my heart.
She gives me cream with all her might to eat with apple tart.
The cow is big, her eyes are round, she makes a very scary sound...Moo-oo.
I'm not afraid, you see, Jesus is with me.
I'm just six years old and the cow is three."

"You should drink milk and eat dairy products because it makes strong teeth and bones," Janelle tells people.

Janelle's favorite flavor of ice cream is strawberry.

Janelle is in Kindergarten I, which she attends weekday mornings.

In her sparetime, Janelle enjoys playing house in her play kitchen with three stuffed cows named Candy, Crystal, and Cookie.

Outside, she rides bike, swings, and climbs of the newspaper stack with her brothers.

CREAMY FINGER JELL-O

2 cups cold water
2 6-ounce packages Jell-O, any flavor
Bring water and Jell-0 to a boil. Dissolve:
5 envelopes Knox gelatin in
1¼ cup cold water
Add to gelatin mixture to Jell-O mixture. Add:
1¼ cup evaporated milk
Mix well. Pour into jelly roll pan and and place in refrigerator until firm. Cut in pieces.

Jason and Jared are eager to devour the Creamy-Finger Jell-O that Janelle cuts with a cow-shaped cookie cutter.

Whether it is at home or at promotions, Janelle is eager to serve dairy products, "which make strong teeth and bones," she said.

Janelle hugs Candy, Crystal, and Cookie.

Janelle's favorite job on the farm is feeding calves.

Janelle plays house while her pet cows watch.

Welch, Rhoades Named Outstanding Somerset 4-H'ers

Gay N. Brownlee
Somerset Co. Correspondent

BERLIN (Somerset Co.) — Above 300 persons attended the Somerset County 4-H Recognition dinner at the community center to honor county winners in the 4-H National Awards program, sponsors, and volunteer adult and junior leaders in 4-H.

The Farm Credit Outstanding 4-H Boy and Girl this year were Matt Welch and Jodell Rhoads. Welch's main project area was in safety, dairy and beef, while Rhoads targeted textile science and fashion revue.

Welch is set to attend the 1992 4-H Club Congress in Chicago and participated in the 4-H exchange trip to Minnesota. Two scholarships also were given to Welch, a freshman at the Pennsylvania State University. They were from the Somerset Trust Co. and The Brotherton Belles and Beaus 4-H.

He also received the Outstanding Dairy Club Member Award, a new memorial to the late Betsy Will Custer who died last year at age 25. It was established by the Somerset Co. Dairy Clubs. Dr. David and Connie Welch, Berlin, are his parents.

Rhoads attended the 1991 4-H Club Congress in Chicago and participated in the exchange trip to Minnestoa. Her entry in the Make It Yourself With Wool contest took her to National competition where Rhoads was named second runner-up, after winning first at the district and state contests in her division.

Now a student at the ICM School of Business in Pittsburgh, the 18-yr-old daughter of Harry and Virginia Rhoads Berlin, spent her 4-H years in the Brotherton Belles and Beaus 4-H Club. Scholarships for Rhoads were from the Somerset Co. Lady Shepherds and First Philson Bank.

Other scholarships went to Katina Showman, from the law firm of Barbera and Barbera and The Keystone Lime Co. Inc.; Michael Yoder, from the Somerset Co. Homebuilders and Suppliers Association and Black's Specialty Service; Michael Lynch, from the Pittsburgh National Bank and Somerset Co. Beef Producers; Meredith McElligott, from B.J. Mauer Ford and the Pittsburgh National Bank; Jill Barclay, Highland Tank Co. and Brotherton Belles and Beaus 4-H Club; Steve Schmuck, from Snyders of Berlin; Clint Walker, from Tammy Glessner; Christy Wysocki, the Pennwest Farm Credit travel award to the National 4-H Club Congress. (Travis Anderson will also attend the Congress).

According to officials from the Somerset County Cooperative Extension Service the evening's contributions exceeded $5,500 for scholarships, awards, and the endowment fund whose contributors this year were Hemminger Homes and the Brotherton Belles and Beaus 4-H Club.

Veteran 4-H leader, Sandy Baer received the award of the diamond clover for 20 years of leading the Steaks and Chops 4-H club. Pearl Clover award went to Mary Margaret Hersch, from the Valley 4-H Club for 15 years of leadership.

David and Connie Welch, leaders of the Milksquirts for 10 years received the award of gold clover.

Silver clover awards went to five year leaders, Tom Anderson, Amy Beeghly, Elaine Blank, Carol Brown, Karen Hillegass, Ed Landis, Linda Maust, Carroll Pucci, Rose Svonavec, Joann Swearman, Diane Wagner, Juanita Yoder and Winona Zehner. First year leaders were also recognized.

Other county winners representing 22 fields of interest were Andy Lynch, Kevin Landis, Michael Lynch, Jennifer Black, Travis Anderson, Alisa Shaffer, Matt Welch, Christy Wysocki, Jill Clites, Natalie Welch, Brian Shaffer, Valerie Castro, Todd Suder, Kristen Hay and Meggan Hayes.

Entertainment following dinner was Broadway musical numbers by Arnie and Roslyn McFarland. By profession he is a radio announcer, and she, a floral designer.

The annual dinner is a dual effort of the Somerset Co. 4-H council and the Somerset Co. 4-H development fund.

Officers of the council are Heather Welch, president; Kim Barnett, vice-president; Michele Countryman, secretary; Valerie Castro, treasurer; Natalie Welch, news reporter; Jason Baughman and Jill Clites, recreational leaders.

The development fund officers are Vincent Barbera, president; Lowell Friedline, vicepresident; Peggy Black, secretary and Douglas Huston, treasurer.

Special honors and scholarships went to these persons during the Somerset Co. annual 4-H Recognition dinner held at the Berlin fire hall. Front left, Sandy Baer, Wayne Yoder for his son, Michael; Clint Walker, Matt Welch, Steve Schmuck. In back, Katina Showman, Christy Wysocki, Jodell Rhoads, Meredith McElligott, and Jill Barclay.

Taking Time For Family Meals

These days, Thanksgiving dinner may be one of the rare times when an entire family gathers to share a meal together.

Too often families eat on the run, kids are out the door in the morning to catch school buses at different times. They leave before adults get back to the house from morning farm chores. In the evening families are just as busy. One person may grab a snack early in order to leave for a scout or 4-H meeting. A parent may hurriedly feed an infant and not really have a chance to sit and eat her own meal. Another two eat the meal that was prepared. Stragglers reheat left-overs an hour later.

It's the story of the disappearing family mealtime.

Mealtimes are critical times — even if they are only 20 minutes long. This may be the only time during the day when family members can connect. "It's the togetherness — not what's on the table — that really matters," according to author Marguerite Kellin. In fact eating together fosters a child's sense of belonging.

But mealtimes may be sheer chaos! Here are some tips to make it less hectic so you can focus on what's important... each other.

- Plan your menu in advance. Know which nights you need to have quick meals.
- Assign tasks to all members to help speed the preparation time.
- Turn the TV off, and consider taking the phone off the hook, too.
- Expect everyone to try everything, but don't force others to eat more than a sample.

To add some spark to your mealtime routine, consider moving your meal to the dining room or serving a special family favorite "for the fun of it." Don't wait until the holiday to serve that once-a-year favorite recipe.

As you eat, ask each person to share one good thing that happened during the day. Also keep each other posted on upcoming family events and schedules. I can't tell you how many time I've heard people say, "I didn't know that! When did we make those plans?"

If shared suppers are out of the question, see if you can negotiate a shared breakfast time. Wouldn't that be a wonderful way to support each other with a positive send-off for the day?

As the holidays approach, enjoy all the wonderful family times spent around a common table. Soak these moments up and squeeze out of them every ounce of leisurely dining that you can. But don't stop there. During the in-between times, make a commitment to preserving your family by sharing meals together. If this ritual has totally disappeared from your family life introduce it in a realistic way. Pick out at least two time this next week when all your family members can be together for a meal (even if it is take-out pizza!).

Recognize that making a commitment to sharing meals may take extra time and may mean a major adjustment to your personal schedule. It may also require that you say "No" to something else. But by saying "No" to one activity means that you can finally say "Yes" to your family.

Pleats Are In

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) — Short tailored skirts with knife pleats and accordion pleats are fashionable once again. The question is how to keep those pleats looking sharp?

How long pleats remain sharp and clearly defined depends on the fiber content, how the pleats were set, and the care the garment receives.

After wearing a pleated garment, it should be hung. This will help the pleats remain well defined. The pleats in garments made from rayon or silk often soften just from wear. It is important to hang these garments after wear to prevent further distortion of the pleat.

The fiber content, the care given to the garment, the type of pleat, and how the pleats were set dictates how succesful pleating will be. Take your garments which require drycleaning in for regular care to help maintain the pleats. If a washable pleated garment you have been caring for at home needs repleating, check with your drycleaner. He will be able to advise you about resetting the pleats. If your drycleaner is unable to repleat your garment, you may wish to contact a company which specializes in repleating.

The sign in front of the Baker's home tells passerbys that this is home for Lebanon Country Dairy Princess Angela Baker, left, who stands with parents, Bob and Ann Baker.

But It's A Dairy Herd She Wants She Wears A Crown

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — Most dairy princesses live on a farm. Not Angela Baker. And she deeply regrets that she doesn't.

So she does the next best thing. She works on a dairy farm.

"I've always loved cows. I want to farm full time," said the 17-year-old Lebanon County Dairy Princess.

She enviously admires peers who live on a dairy farm but do not want to make a career of it. It's difficult for her to understand how anyone could throw away an opportunity like that.

"Some people tell me that if I had to milk cows every day, I'd get tired of it," Angela said. "But I don't think I would. The more I help on the dairy farm, the more I like it."

Every weekend, Angela rises at 4:15 a.m. to travel 15 minutes from her home in Lebanon to the farm of Don and Sherry Hoffer in Annville. There she milks cows for one and a half hours. She returns again for the evening milking. During the summer, she worked on the Hoffers' 300-acre farm and at a neighboring dairy farm.

Angela did not know the Hoffers before she knocked on their door and asked if she could have a summer job during her sophomore year. That was the beginning of a close relationship. Now the Hoffers fondly refer to Angela as their other daughter.

The Hoffers have two children, Kristen, 19, and Kent, 22, who work on the farm. They are really pleased with Angela, who Sherry said, "Pitches into to help and isn't afraid to get dirty."

Angie attributes her desire to milk cows to her father, Bob Baker, who is a nutritional consultant. When she was growing up, he did some relief milking for his customers. Angela accompanied him.

Both her parents were raised on dairy farms in Bedford County. "That's my heritage. Mom doesn't like to hear it, but I would like to go 'back home' and work on the farm," Angie said. "It's a different lifestyle in Bedford County — living in the mountains."

Her father said, "I think Angie inherited her love for the farm."

Her mother, Ann, agreed. She said, "I'm convinced it's passed on through the genes."

The Bakers refer to an 80-year-old aunt who continues to live on the Bedford County family farm.

"I think women in general are more patient with animals in health and feeding," Bob said.

Both parents enjoyed the farm, but moved to Lebanon County when Angela was four years old to teach school. The Bedford farm continues under the ownership of other family members.

Angela isn't a mere dreamer, waiting for her goal to fall into her lap. She is busy learning all she can about farming.

That includes being president of the FFA at Lancaster Mennonite School. She is the only female member in the FFA at LMH. She is proud that LMH is the first private school in the U.S. to receive the FFA charter.

Although it is difficult establishing a program the first year, Angela said, "There are a lot of opportunities in FFA. You get out of it what you put into it."

As FFA president, Angela had her father as a resource person to show students how efficient computers can be in assisting farmers.

In addition to FFA, Angela takes ag related classes such as animal science. This year, she is on the co-op program, which allows her work on dairy promotion as Lebanon County Dairy Princess.

Of her duties, Angela said, "I like meeting farmers and getting feedback. It's fun to meet with them."

During the state pageant, Angela was chosen as one of seven

(Turn to Page B18)

Angie envies those who grow up on a dairy farm and have the opportunity to work with cows and calves everyday. Although she works part time on a dairy farm, her dream is for a full time job and eventually owning her own dairy farm.

Make It A Holiday To Remember

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) — About 1,000 women attended the annual holiday program sponsored by Berks County Extension to learn how to make Christmas a holiday to remember.

The day-long program, held on three separated days, was packed with ideas for giving gifts from the heart, preparing festive foods and decorations, and helping the homeless.

Gifts from the heart

"Take some time to give gifts from the heart," said Phoebe Bitler, who showed participants how to make embossed stationery, appliqued banners, designer boxes, clothing items, and numerous other handicrafts.

• A simple-to-make designer box to package holiday gifts can be made by spraying a flat fold-up box with spray adhesive. Immediately place the box on fabric or wrapping paper and press until it adhers. Fold the box into shape. The box can be reused.

• Revitalize old lamp shades by removing the old paper but keeping the frame. Accordion fold coordinated wallpaper that has been cut to the desired length. Hot glue the edges of the frame and adhere the wall paper. Results in a pleated lampshade.

• Heat N Bond Cards may be made by cutting out fabric in quilt patterns or other designs. Fuse to plain stationery cards with hot iron. Use a black pen to outline stitching design around applique.

• A gift from the heart that Phoebe suggests is a Family Favorite Cookbook. For this, a photo album, the size of recipe cards, is covered with a padded fabric cover. Plain note cards can be used for the recipes. Bond a fabric heart with a photo of the person's face to the recipe card. Makes an ideal gift to a new daughter-in-law, Phoebe said.

Memories

Sherry Kalbach, known as the garbage lady, takes the things people throw away to make memories — not heirlooms.

• Dinosaur eggs can be made with Ivory Snow. Add water until it is of play dough consistency. Press the soap around a small plastic dinosaur. Smooth and form into egg shape. Dinosaur is hatched as soap melts away.

• Make a personalized calendar for grandparents by pasting pictures of grandchildren on each of the 12 months. The activities should be suitable to the month with which they are pictured.

• Recycle a straw wreath by pinning three strips of brown ribbon from top to bottom of inside of wreath. Glue on fabric eyes, nose, and mouth. Insert branches in wreath for antlers.

Holiday cooking

"Cooking ahead should be a way of life," Fay Strickler said. "Do ahead menus and recipes help you to have a hearty main dish on hand when the family is hungry, a dessert in the freezer when company drops by, a surprise for a child's lunch box and enough hors d'oeuvres to feed a crowd at a party. Here are several make ahead recipes that Fay demonstrated.

CRANBERRY SOUR CREAM CRUMBLE

¼ cup chopped almonds

Topping:
½ cup all-purpose flour
½ cup sugar
¼ cup chopped almonds
¼ cup margarine, melted
¼ teaspoon vanilla

Coffee cake:
1 cup sugar
½ cup margarine, softened
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs
2 cups flour
1¼ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup light sour cream
1 cup whole cranberry sauce

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Sprinkle ¼ cup chopped almonds on bottom of greased 9-inch springform pan or 10-inch tube pan; set aside. In medium bowl, stir together all topping ingredients until crumbly; set aside. In large mixer bowl, combine 1 cup sugar, ½ cup margarine, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Beat at medium speed, scraping bowl often, until well mixed (1 to 2 minutes). Add eggs; continue beating, scraping bowl often, until well mixed (1 to 2 minutes). Add eggs; continue beating, scraping bowl often, until well mixed (1 to 2 minutes). Continue beating, adding 2 cups flour, baking powder, baking soda, and salt alternately with light sour cream, until well mixed (1 to 2 minutes). Spoon half of batter into prepared pan; spread to cover bottom. Spoon cranberry sauce over batter; spread to edges. Spoon remaining batter over cranberry sauce; spread to cover. Sprinkle topping over batter. Bake for 70 to 85 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool 10 minutes; remove from pan. Freezes well. Yield: 12 servings.

"You've got it made with Cranberry Sour Cream Crumble, Amazing Apricot Pie, and other holiday gifts from the kitchen," Fay Strickler promises participants at the annual holiday program.

FROSTY PUMPKIN BOMBE

2½ cups gingersnap crumbs
½ cup sugar
¼ cup melted butter
2 pints vanilla ice cream, softened slightly
2 cups solid pack pumpkin
1 cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon cloves
1 cup whipping cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
Whipped cream, optional
Maraschino cherries, optional

Layer 1: Combine crumbs, ¼ cup sugar and butter. Reserving 1 cup crumb mixture, press remaining crumb mixture evenly inside a 2½ quart mixing bowl that has been lined with plastic wrap or aluminum foil. Mold into shape by pressing 1½ -quart bowl into center. Remove inner bowl; place crumb-lined bowl in freezer.

Layer 2: Pack softened ice cream inside frozen crumbs, using chilled 1½ quart bowl again as mold. Freeze until ice cream hardens.

Layer 3: Combine pumpkin, 1 cup sugar, salt and spices. Whip cream until stiff; fold into pumpkin; stir in vanilla. Pour mixture into center of ice cream. Top evenly with remaining 1 cup crumb mixture. Freeze.

To serve: Unmold by dipping bowl into warm water for a few seconds, lift out with liner and invert on serving plate. Allow to thaw slightly at room temperature about 15 minutes. Garnish with whipped cream and cherries, if desired. Cut into wedges. Yield: 12 servings.

MAKE ANY MUFFIN RECIPE HEALTHIER

•Substitute half of the all-purpose flour with whole wheat flour or rolled oats or substitute one fourth of it with bran. You will increase vitamins, minerals, and fiber.

• The use of eggs adds very little cholesterol to muffins (only about 25 milligrams per muffin). However, if this is still a concern, you may use two egg whites or an egg substitute for each egg requested.

• Try skim milk instead of whole milk to cut down on fat.

• Replace the oil in a recipe with any of the following ingredients: applesauce, baby food fruits, or a mixture of one cup dried figs or dates pureed with ¾ cup water and one teaspoon vanilla.

• Add 1 to 1½ cups grated vegetables such as zucchini or carrots or fruits such as apples, raisins, bananas, blackberries, strawberries, cranberries, or peaches.

• Spice things up with 1 to 1½ teaspoons nutmeg, cinnamon, orange peel, allspice or lemon rind.

• Lowfat spread include jellies, jams, preserves or fruit butters such as apple and pumpkin.

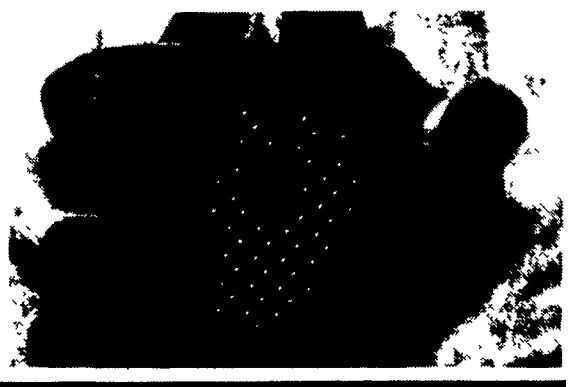
Fay Strickler, Berks County Extension home economist, cuts a Frosty Pumpkin Bombe, which looks difficult to make but is not, according to Strickler.



Applique Joy Banner

During the lunch break, participants examine decorations on display.

Decorations

Leslie Uslin, owner of Leesport Flowers, demonstrated festive holiday decorations for wreaths, mantels, and centerpieces.

• When choosing fresh flowers, make sure the color of the stems and leaves should be a bright green. Flower petals should be brightly colored, not transparent.

• When you make fresh floral arrangements, Leslie said, always use a floral preservative. She said a homemade floral preservative can be made by adding a couple of drops of chlorine bleach and a pinch of sugar to enough warm water to fill the flower vase.

• Floral foam should be allowed to soak gradually instead of being pushed underneath water. When it is thoroughly soaked, it can be cut to the proper size.

• In addition to drying apple slices for arrangements, kiwi, grapefruit, oranges, and peppers may also be dried in a dehydrator or in a 200 degree oven.

• Dusty miller wreaths may be made fresh, Use a straw wreath as a base. Pick off leaves of dusty miller and form small bunches. Lay a bunch on the edges of the wreath and fasten with a florist pin. Do the outside and inside edges of the wreath before filling in the middle. Make sure each bundle is placed closely to the previous bundle as dusty miller shrinks as it dries. The wreaths will last for years.

• German statice wreaths can be made the same as dusty miller wreaths. Refrigerate the German statice for one hour before using as it makes it easier to work with.

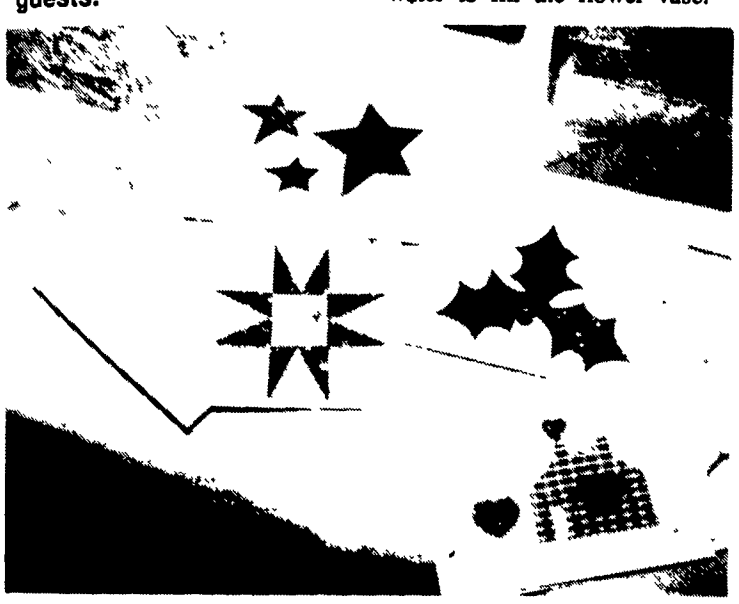
• Mixed green garlands are made by taking two spools of florist wire. One spool is used as the base wire and the other spool is used for wrapping the greens to the base wire. Take little bunches of desired greens and wrap it to the base wire. Pull tightly. Twist together the two wires to fasten off.

• Candle holders may be made from real apples that set flat. Cut circles into the top and push in candle. Dip apples in clear floor wax to make the fruit last longer.

• Boxwood tree can be made by trimming form to a tree shape. Start at the bottom and insert longest pieces of boxwood around bottom of foam. Fill in pieces and at the top bring it to a point. Set the boxwood tree in the sink and water from the top so that it stays moist.

• If roses droop, place stem under water and cut shorter. Stick immediately in a vase filled with water.

• Do not use long needle pines in arrangements as it reduces the life of the flower since the sap runs into the water.



These cards are made with fabric, pen, and paper.

She Wears A Crown

finalists from 33 contestants for the state crown. She also received an honorable mention for her scrapbook documenting her dairy promotional activities.

Angela describes herself as a person who likes physical labor, is an outdoor person, likes to hunt and ski.

For 5 years, Angela has played field hockey. This year, she had the distinction of playing goalie. When interviewed for this article, the team was entering the first round of district playoffs.

Angela is also president of the youth group at Midway Church of the Brethren.

"I have a heavy schedule now with FFA, dairy princess duties, and youth group," Angela said.

That will all end in June. Angela is hoping that by then she will have a full-time job on a dairy farm.

If she continues to like milking as well as she expects to, her next step will be to start building up her own dairy herd. Already she owns six cows.

Her favorite dairy recipe that she shares in her promotional activities is as follows.

CHOCOLATE PEANUT LOAF

1 cup vanilla wafer crumbs (about 33 wafers)
½ cup chopped salted peanuts
2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar
3 tablespoons butter, melted
½ gallon chocolate ice cream
3-ounces cream cheese
¾ cup confectioners' sugar
⅓ cup peanut butter
⅓ cup milk
½ cup whipping cream, whipped
Chocolate syrup

For crust, combine crumbs, peanuts, 2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar, and butter; reserve half for topping. Press remaining half into bottom of foil-lined 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Place in freezer for 15 minutes. Soften 3 cups chocolate ice cream. Spread over frozen crust; return to freezer. To make filling, beat cream cheese, sugar, and peanut butter until fluffy. Add milk gradually, beating until fluffy; fold in whipped cream. Spread over frozen ice cream; return to freezer until filling is firm. Spread 3 more cups softened ice cream over filling. Sprinkle with reserved crumbs, patting crumbs lightly into ice cream. Cover with foil; freeze. Unmold just before serving, peeling off foil. Slice to serve; drizzle with chocolate syrup. Makes 10 to 12 slices.

Angie takes a break with Sherry and Don Hoffer and daughter Kristen. Since Angie began working on the Hoffer's dairy, she refers to the Hoffers as her second family. Hoffer's son Kent is missing from the picture.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

On a recent Saturday my sister invited her three sisters to her home for a day of planned surprises. We arrived to find that they had just purchased a new motor home. They had one previously but this one had all of the conveniences of a modern home. Of course, it had a stove, refrigerator, micro-wave, television, and bathroom plus an air-conditioning system.

We four couples were taken in it to Muddy Run Park in southern Lancaster County. Here they have 164 campsites including 27 for tents. Each site has a picnic table, charcoal grill and paved parking. There are modren rest rooms, tiled showers, electrical outlets, water hydrants, laundry and children's playground. They also have fishing and boating but no swimming.

The 700 acres of beautiful woodland and rolling fields surround a 100-acre lake. The lake has a 2.7 mile hiking trail. And, my sister had planned for us to hike this lakeshore trail marked with yellow blazes.

I was not prepared for this! In the first place my shoes had leather soles and the leaf strewn trail was slippery. Most of the path hugged the shore and slanted toward the water. It was rock strewn and as I wore a heavy jacket for the 40-degree temperature, I got quite hot due to exertion. It surely seemed a lot more than the posted mileage. We did take a shortcut through fields and woods and barely managed to get back to the motor home just at dusk.

As temperature fell the warmth of the trailer was most welcome. A sumptuous meal had been prepared for us and included many, many dishes. We shared pictures of recent trips and talked about the herds of deer that we saw on our hike. It was an unusual day.

Farm Visitation Day In York

YORK (York Co.) — Families can enjoy a day of fun during this year's Farm Visitation Day, November 22, held at sites throughout southwestern York County. Sunnyside-L Farm (David and Norma Lucabaugh), Pine Tree Road, R.D. #2, Spring Grove. Dave and Norma have lived on this 360 acre farm with their four sons for 22 years. Together they raise alfalfa, corn and oats. They also house 55 Holstein cows in their freestall barn.

Jim and Sandy Bailey, Daron Road, R.D. #2, Spring Grove. Here visitors will tour the poultry house plus the processing and refrigeration room. This 110 acre farm produces eggs for table and prepackaged use along with 6,000 hogs per year for commercial markets.

Edwin and Carolyn Calhoun, Snyder Road, R.D. #2, Glen Rock. The Calhouns have received several awards for superior milk quality from York County Dairy Herd Improvement Association and other organizations. Here visitors will view 270 acres on which they grow alfalfa, soybeans, barley and oats.

This year's hosts will be wearing badges and will be able to answer your questions during the visit. Green and white directional signs will be displayed to make things easier for the tourists. This event will take place on Sunday, November 22, 1992, from 1:00 - 4:00 p.m.

Gift Fair Date Set

LITITZ (Lancaster Co.) — What do you buy for the person who has everything? How about a cow?

Here's how it works: Fairgoers purchase animals or shares of animals in the name of a friend. The friend receives an attractive HPI gift card. A family in need receives the HPI animal.

Whatever your decision, a wide selection of living gifts will be on hand at a unique Living Gift Fair at the Lititz Church of the Brethren. The date set is Saturday, November 28 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Thanksgiving Trivia

Thanksgiving Trivia

• Have you thought about thanking Abraham Lincoln lately? It was Honest Abe, back in 1863, who firsted declared Thanksgiving Day to be official national holiday. Although Americans had been unofficially celebrating Thanksgiving since the first special day of Nov. 26, 1789.

• Thanksgiving is always celebrated on the fourth Thursday of the month - ture? It is today, but this wasn't always the case. Back in 1939, President Franklin Delano Roosevelt made it the third Thursday of November. He kept this "new tradition" alive for just three short years, through 1941, after which he allowed Americans to revert back to their old way of celebrating on the fourth Thursday again. Why did FDR tamper with Thanksgiving? He wanted to help out America's retailers, who thought that by holding Thanksgiving a week early, they could extend the holiday season and encourage more consumer spending.

• The Roaring '20s gave birth to much more than the Jazz Age and the Great Depression. In 1924, the very first Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade was held in New York City.

• That New York reputation for aggressiveness? Maybe there's truth to it after all — New York was the first state to celebrate an official Thanksgiving Day. Word is that the New Yorkers staged that first Thanksgiving just because they wanted to be the first state in the union to do so. Of course, the idea wasn't totally original — the tradition of Thanksgiving was an import from ..ngland, which had traditionally celebrated the harvest season with Thanksgiving-like celebrations for centuries.

Farm Women Societies

Lancaster Society 8

Lancaster Society of Farm Women No. 8 met on November 11 at the Lutheran Church in Maytown for a covered dish luncheon.

A Book Review on "The Living" was given by Peg Woodbridge, a former English teacher.

The December 2 meeting will be held at the home of Vanetta Wallander in Maytown. Each member should bring two dozen cookies and exchange recipes. Members must bring a wrapped gift.

Lancaster Society 20

Farm Women #20 met at Zion United Church of Christ of New Providence on November 5 with Helen Tout and Dorothy Shirk as hostesses. After the refreshments Dorothy read from the book of Ecclesiastes for the scripture followed by a reading "Thank God for Autumn." The Lord's Prayer was prayed in unison and the Pledge of Allegiance was used.

For the Roll Call each of the 20 members present mentioned some blessings they received during the year. The Sunshine Committee reported one plant and one card sent. It was voted to give to the "Make-A-Wish" organization.

Nancy Axe and Vivian Trout attended the Farm Women's Day recently and mentioned the speaker spoke about the Heifer Project which does so much good for the poor in the United States and other countries. The new officiers are Nancy Axe, president, Jean Ressel, vice president, and Vera Herr, treasurer.

The entertainment was by Chris Good from Society #33 who gave and acted out humorous readings, which everyone enjoyed. The meeting closed by singing "Brighten the Corner" to meet in December with Barbara Stone and Marie Foose as co-hostess.

Berks Society 4

Berks County Society of Farm Women Group 4 met at the Boyertown YMCA where Michael Moyer took them on a tour of the building and explained the various programs being offered.

The business meeting was at the Boyertown RD 1 home of Marguerite Rush. Plans for the State convention in Harrisburg on January 11 were discussed.

The next meeting on December 1 at the home of Virginia Taylor will be a Christmas party with gift exchange and revealing of secret pals. New officers will be installed.

Maryland FFA Land Judging Contest

The Frederick FFA Chapter won the first place banner in the land judging contest held recently.

The contest was held at Francis Scott Key High School near Union Bridge, Md. and is sponsored by the Maryland Association of Soil Conservation Districts as a special project of the Maryland FFA Foundation Inc.

The high scoring individual for the contest was Seth Burrier, member of the Frederick Chapter. The Clear Spring High School FFA Chapter took the second place banner in the contest.

According to Contest Superintendent, Carl E. Robinette, soil scientist with the United States Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service, 11 teams were registered with 38 members participating.

Contestants were asked to evaluate soils at three sites for their capability and limiting factors. The members were then to recommend the best management practices for agricultural and nonagricultural land uses at each site.

David Verdone and Phil King of the Soil Conservation Service and Dr. Richard Weismiller of the University of Maryland, College Park supervised the contest.

The winning teams in the land judging contest from first through third were: Ferderick High FFA, Clear Spring High FFA, and Brunswick High FFA.

The top scoring individuals receiving gold medals were: 1. Seth Burries, Frederick FFA; 2. Heather Leppo, Catoctin FFA; and 3. Todd Crone, Brunswick FFA.

PHA Accepts Futurity Entries

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Entires are now being accepted for the Pennsylvania Holstein Association's 1995 Keystone Holstein three-year-old Futurity.

Heifers born between Sept. 1, 1991 and August 31, 1992 are eligible for entry into the 1995 Futurity. Entries are due for the 1995 Keystone Futurity by December 1, 1992.

The 1992 Keystone Futurity, shown Sept. 10 at the Pennsylvania Holstein Fall Championship Show, was not only the largest, but also the deepest quality show we've had in the futurity.

It started with 176 animals entered in 1989, at $3 per head. One-hundred twenty-six animals were eligible when their owners made the second payment of $11 in 1990, and 55 of those remained eligible for the show with a $20 payment made in 1991.

There were 17 animals made it to the ring to be judged in the futurity class by Orden Bender.

4-H HAPPENINGS

4-H Engineering Team Receives Third Place National Honors

Members of the Pennsylvania 4-H Engineering Team were among 150 4-H'ers from 20 states attending the 1992 National 4-H Engineering Event held recently in Richmond, Va. The event featured competitions in automotive, bicycle, computer, electric energy, small engine, compact tractor, and large tractor project areas.

Pennsylvania's team received third place national honors in the National 4-H Engineering Bowl, a competition entered by teams from 25 states. Dr. U.B. Bakker, associate professor of agricultural and extension education in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences, served as the team's leader and coach.

• Joshua Hercer, Dauphin County, took third place in the bicycle category.

• Jeremy Troutman, Lebanon County, took fifth place in the large tractor category.

• Greg Marshall, Indiana County, took fifth place in the compact tractor category.

Each national delegate was recognized and received a national honor certificate, honor ribbon, and scholarship award during the reception.

Massey-Ferguson, Atlantic Region, was the primary sponsor of the Pennsylvania 4-H Engineering Team, donating $1,000 to support both the team and the 4-H Engineering Sciences Curriculum in Pennsylvania.

The National 4-H Engineering Event has been held for more than 40 years. Pennsylvania 4-H sends a team every year in cooperation with Penn State's agricultural and biological engineering department. State delegates are selected from interviews and State 4-H Days engineering-related presentations and contests.

Joshua Hercher of Dauphin County, left, and Jeremy Troutman of Lebanon County, right, were among Pennsylvania 4-H engineering team members who took honors in the National 4-H Engineering Bowl. Coaching the team was Dr. U.B. Bakker, associate professor of agricultural and extension education in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

This trio from Alfred-Almond Central School took first place among teams in the plant science/horticulture category in the recent "Ag Skills" competition hosted by Alfred State College of Technology. From left are Marie Dunn, Stephanie Odell, and Myra Clancy. Dunn was first place individual in the category, Odell tied for third, and Clancy was sixth. Some 140 students from 10 schools traveled to Alfred State for the event, according to Dr. James Thompson, dean of the college's School of Agriculture and Allied Health Technologies which coordinated activities.

4-H'ers Are Into Trash

This fall, along a 100-mile stretch of Delaware coastline, members of the Sussex County Broadkill 4-H Club and other volunteers scooped up and bagged almost 12 tons of litter.

For three years, Broadkill 4-H'ers have participated in the "Get the Drift and Bag It" project, an international effort to clean up beaches. They are responsible for litter pickup on Prime Hook and Broadkill beaches.

"The youngsters are expected to record the kinds and amounts of debris they collect," said Joyce Simpson, Sussex County 4-H agent. "Not only is this activity an exercise in good citizenship, it provides valuable data to organizations tracking the source of coastal trash."

Dublin Hill 4-H Club members, also in Sussex County, have taken to the road to participate in the "Adopt a Highway" program. Two or three times a year, these youngsters pick up paper, cans, bottles and old tires that litter Dublin Hill Road. A sign, bought with funds from the club treasury, confirms that they have accepted the responsibility for keeping the roadside clean.

"Dublin Hill 4-H'ers decided not to stop their cleanup at the road's edge," Simpson said. "They have also undertaken some yard care tasks at the Dublin Hill Community Center, where they meet. Older members trim hedges while the younger ones plant flowers for everyone who uses the facility to enjoy."

4-H clubs in Kent and New Castle counties also take part in litter cleanup projects. If you are between the ages of 8 and 19 and are interested in this kind of activity, call the 4-H agent in your county extension office: Kent County, (302) 697-4000; New Castle County, (302) 831-8965; or Sussex County (302) 856-7303.

4-H HAPPENINGS

These two Alfred-Almond Central School students captured first place among teams in the landscape/ conservation category during the recent "Ag Skills" competition started at Alfred State College of Technology. Displaying their blue ribbon are Charles Drew (left), who was first place individual in the category, and Jake Hurd, who placed third. The events on campus drew some 140 students from 10 schools, according to Dr. James Thompson, dean of the college's School of Agriculture and Allied Health Technologies which hosted the competition.

- Proven 23° bar angle for traction and open center for self-cleaning.
- Bead and rim protector shields the rim to help keep stubble and soil from getting between the bead and rim flange.

MODERN LIGHTING PROGRAMS FOR MODERN PULLETS

Paul H. Patterson, Ph.D.
Assistant Professor
Poultry Science

Only 10 years ago "early" light stimulation (18-20 weeks) of Leghorn pullets was to be avoided because of the negative impact this could have on eggs per hen housed, egg size, the percentage large eggs, and total dollar value (Table 1).

Today, with our modern birds reaching sexual maturity earlier and at a lighter weight, it is important to provide an equally modern lighting program to maximize egg production and profits for the same period of lay.

Some components of the lighting program are not so different than before. Pullets raised in light-tight quarters should start with 22 to 24 hours of light per day for the first several days, then decrease light in a stair-step fashion until 3 to 5 weeks of age.

From this point in time until light stimulation begins, light intensity and daylight length should remain constant below a threshold which would induce sexual maturity and egg production. Threshold intensity should be maintained at no greater than 0.5 foot candle to prevent picking and less than 11 to 12 hours light per day. By using 10 hours light per day, this will provide a margin of safety and save some expense from unnecessary lighting.

Table 1. Age at lighting and egg size (1982)

	Age at lighting (week)
Parameter:	18	20	22

Egg value ($)	0.467	0.477	0.482

Source: University of California, Poultry Progress, 1982.

As bird genetics have changed, results of a 1986 study showed that lighting pullets at 18 weeks improved production parameters over the 1982 findings reported above. Not only was age at 50 percent production reduced, but eggs per hen housed, egg mass, and egg value were improved compared to lighting at 19 and 20 weeks (Table 2). No significant difference in egg size was realized as a result of the early lighting.

Modern programs recommended by breeders begin light stimulation earlier than the 20 to 22 weeks of age from days gone by. Some are suggesting stimulation at 16 weeks of age.

To carry out this program, maintain 10 hours of steady-state conditions from approximately 4 to 16 weeks of age. If breeder target weights have not been achieved by this time, delay lighting an additional week to develop the additional weight and frame needed.

At 16 weeks, begin increasing daylight length 30 minutes per week until 15 hours light per day is realized. However, attainment of target body weight is critical for the "early" stimulated pullet.

Table 2. Age at lighting and egg size (1986)

Parameter:	18 wk	19 wk & 3 days	20 wk & 6 days

Egg mass per hen (kg)	14.34	14.26	13.98
Egg value/hen housed ($)	11.15	11.06	10.65

Lighting Tips

Remember:

- Never allow growing pullets to experience an increase in light intensity or exposure time.
- Never allow laying birds to experience a decrease in light intensity or exposure time.
- Ensure pullets moved from the growing to the laying house don't experience a decrease in lighting intensity or duration.
- Provide a minimum of 8 weeks of light stimulation.
- Sudden large increases in the amount of light per day at the time of sexual maturity can induce prolapse.
- Practical levels of light for multideck cage layer houses should be at 1 foot candle to ensure a minimum of 0.5 foot candles at all levels.
- No more than 16 hours of light per day is necessary for Leghorn hens.

Farmers Union Annual Convention Held

GRANTVILLE (Dauphin Co.) — Seventy delegates elected by Pennsylvania Farmers Union members from across the state convened in Grantville recently for the family farm organization's 21st annual convention.

The event includes three days of deliberation on policy resolutions, educational seminars, and speakers.

In his opening remarks, PFU President Robert C. Junk, Jr., reminded the group of accomplishments over the past year in areas such as organizational growth and legislative efforts such as seeking a program for soil nutrient management that will work for the family-sized farm.

Junk challenged delegates to participate actively in the policy-making process when the new legislatures commence in Harrisburg and Washington, D.C. in January.

"This is a time of tremendous opportunity," Junk said, noting that five current members of the House Agriculture Committee will not be returning to Harrisburg next year, including the Committee's Chairman, Ken Cole (D-Adams).

Junk pointed out that had the founders of the Pennsylvania chapter of Farmers Union simply pooled their money and purchased a few thousand dollars of stock in ConAgra, they would be millionaires today. "But, the return on their investment cannot be measured in dollars and cents," he said. "Instead, it must be measured in terms of the number of family farms saved and the services we have provided to improve the quality of life in rural

J-Star Acquires Major Competitor

FORT ATKINSON, Wis. — John Neill, president of J-Star Industries, Inc., Fort Atkinson, announced that an agreement in principle has been signed to purchase the Van Dale Product line, its domestic and international sales distribution system, inventory assets, and some production machinery and equipment.

Van Dale Inc., with headquarters in Long Lake, Minn., manufactures a complete line of farmstead products including feed, forage, and maure handling equipment. The company has manufactured farm equipment for more than 45 years.

Although selling price details were not disclosed, Neill said, "Since the formation of J-Star in 1987, the company has enjoyed significant business successes thanks to a team of dedicated, professional, experienced people. Our financial performance has allowed us early and complete repayment of all start-up loan obligations."

The addition of Van Dale business will increase sales and production for J-Star by more than 25 percent. "This acquisition further strengthens J-Star's leadership position in the farmstead equipment industry," Neill said. "The synergies we have gained through the consolidation of production, research and development, purchasing and support services in Fort Atkinson will significantly benefit the future growth and financial stability of J-Star."

The Van Dale name will join five established brand names offered by J-Star: Jamesway equipment, Starline equipment, J-Star Electronics, Oswalt mixers, and Nesseth manure pumps.

Neill indicated that the company plans to move all production and related services to Fort Atkinson during the next several months. Employment at J-Star is expected to increase by 40 or more employees over the next few months. The Van Dale product line will be administered as a separate sales division functioning within J-Star.

Horticulture Trade Show Draws Crowd

CENTERVILLE (Lancaster Co.)—The annual Geo. K. Groff horticulture supply trade show and customer appreciation day was held last Thursday at the Comfort Inn Convention center. The event was extreemly well received with more than 500 visitors and nearly that many registered to attend the Dutch Apple Dinner Theatre in the evening. Fred Hellberg, owner, said the people came from all across their distribution area that includes Pennsylvania, Maryland, Deleware, Virginia, West Virginia, and New Jersey.

Several speakers discussed subjects of interest and special tours into Lancaster County were arranged. The food was plentiful. Fifty product exhibitors filled several tents and the main exhibition area. Geo. K. Groff, Inc. is headquartered in Bird-In-Hand.

Ford New Holland Adds 91 PTO HP Tractor

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — The new Ford Model 7530 high clearance tractor, powered by a 6-cylinder 331 CID diesel engine for 91 PTO hp, is the most powerful tractor in its class, said Ford New Holland Product Manager Dave Dell.

"This new tractor has the necessary clearance for vegetable and other specialty crop production," he said. "With four-wheel drive, harvest and other operations are less weather-dependent." He points out that's the reason users call it a "mudder."

The 7530 is equipped with a 20 x 4 creeper transmission with seven speeds under one mph to match the pace of harvest crews in heaviest crops. Category II 3-point hitch and independent 540/1000 rpm PTO are standard. Front axle tread width adjusts from 67 to 84 inches. Rear axle tread adjusts from 60 to 86.5 inches.

"In addition to the high clearance and 'go-anywhere' 4WD, the tractor provides rugged durability for tillage, planting, spraying, fertilizer spreading, and other work in wide variety of specialty and general farm crops. Tree farmers, custom fence builders and right-of-way mowers will find its specifications appropriate for their work," said Dell.

Dekalb Opens Biotech Research Facility

MYSTIC, Conn. — Dekalb Plant Genetics has opened its new Discovery Research Center which houses the company's biotechnology research program.

"Biotechnology is playing a larger role in Dekalb's research program," said Dekalb President Tom Rice. "We began our biotechnology program in 1976, and for those of us who have worked in the biotechnology area for years, the dedication of this new complex is truly a special event."

While attending ribbon cutting ceremonies, Connecticut Governor Lowell P. Weicker Jr. commented that he is pleased to have the people of the Dekalb organization working in the state. Citing the example of hunger in Somalia, Weicker praised the scientists who "have dedicated your life to the betterment of your fellow men and women. It's a wonderful day, knowing that the energy and resources here will be dedicated to life."

The $6 million state-of-the-art facility covers 65,000 square feet and is comprised of computer-controlled greenhouses and two floors of laboratory and office space. A "head house" provides mechanical support for the greenhouses, including refrigerated growth chambers, a soil preparation machine, air and water purifiers, and a wastewater treatment system.

"The field of biotechnology is relatively new in agriculture," Rice said. "Our scientists have paved the way for the development of superior corn hybrids. Their work in genetically engineering plants opens the door for Dekalb to produce hybrids that will have higher yields, tolerance to drought, and improved nutritional quality and pest resistance. In a world where so many people go hungry, and where we are all concerned about the environmental impact of agricultural chemicals, this research is important and meaningful."

Two years ago, the Dekalb biotechnology team gained recognition in the scientific community for groundbreaking work in corn transformation. According to Rice, Dekalb was one of the first — if not the first — to accomplish this technological breakthrough.

"When we decided to expand our biotechnology program, we looked at several locations," Rice said. "We chose to keep the program in Connecticut, near our employees.

Dekalb Plant Genetics' new biotechnology research complex is open in Mystic, Conn. Dekalb researchers working at the facility will develop and use the latest technology to make genetic improvements in corn.

Deere Adds 170-Bushel Capacity To Seeding System

MOLINE, Ill. — John Deere has introduced a 170-bushel capacity 787 air seeding system as a productive alternative for those farmers whose operations do not require the high capacity of the 230-bushel 787 announced last year.

The 170-bushel two-section tank provides the same versatility as the 230-bushel tank. The front section of the new tank holds 66 bushel of seed or fertilizer and the rear holds 104 bushel, providing the flexibility to seed and fertilize at the same time. Both tank sections can be loaded or unloaded quickly with the standard hydraulci auger.

An optional 30-cubic foot granular applicator provides the capability to apply granular herbicide, seed, and fertilize in the same pass.

The 787 offers a choice of metering rollers. The fine-metering roller is recommended for fertilizer and seed up to ¼ -inch in diameter and application rates of 3 to 145 pounds/acre. The coarse-metering roller is for application rates of 30 to 220 pounds/acre and is recommended for ¼ -inch product and larger, or smaller product at higher rates.

The hydraulically-driven fan runs at 2,000 to 4,000 rpm and produces a strong air stream for the system. An optional double-shot manifold permits placing seed and fertilizer separately.

An electronic monitor displays fan and ground speed, meter shaft speed, bin level, air velocity, and area seeded.

The 787 is available in a tow-between and tow-behind configuration. Rear 18.4 x 26 10-ply flotation tires minimize soil compaction. The tow-behind model offers a choice of single or dual front-caster wheels with 16.5L x 16.1 6-ply tires. The dual wheels are recommended for soft, easily compacted soils and should be used with the granular attachment.

Shipments are scheduled to begin in November.

C.B. Hoober's Field Day Features Tillage Technology

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — More than 200 were on hand at the C.B. Hoober and Son, Inc. Field Day Tuesday to see a wide array of residue management tillage systems and look at the latest in tractor and combining technology.

"We've been emphasizing tillage tools that will shatter the hardpan and let residue on top of the ground to comply with government residue management guidelines," said Tom Yohe, general manager, C. B. Hoober amd Son.

DMI subsoiler demonstration showed the effects of using wing point chisels to break a three-inch compaction layer and allowing oxygen and moisture to work through the soil. Research has shown that improved tilth and reduced compaction contribute to better crops. On hand to demonstrate the emphasis of using different chisel technology was Charlie Elliott, district manager for DMI.

The Field Day also showed the latest Case IH Magnum and Maxxum tractors, as well as axial flow combines and no-till drills for anytime seeding. A free lunch was provided to the attendees.

Old Abe: The Case Logo Come To Life

RACINE, Wis. — Collectors and others familiar with vintage agricultural tractors know that a proud eagle, standing first on a perch, then on a branch and later on a globe, was the trademark found on every machine manufactured by J I Case between 1869 and 1969.

J I Case is celebrating 150 years in business in 1992 with a look back at the company's early days and its first trademark. The story behind that logo is closely tied to the man who founded the company.

Jerome Increase Case (1819-1891) arrived in Wisconsin in 1842. After two years of working improving his ground hog threshing machine, he established his J.I. Case Threshing Machine Company in Racine, a bustling city on the shores of Lake Michigan in southeastern Wisconsin. Soon Case's firm was thriving and selling improved threshers to farmers across the nation. It was during the Civil War years that J.I. Case first saw the eagle that would later become the impetus for the company trademark.

In 1861, when visiting farms near Eau Claire, Wis., Case saw the mustering of Company C of the Eighth Wisconsin regiment. The company's mascot was a live bald eagle named Old Abe, in honor of President Abraham Lincoln. The bird was carried by the soldiers and screamed whenever the band played.

Eagle purchased with corn

The young eagle had been captured by a Chippewa Indian from the Flambeau Reservation. He gave the bird to a man named Daniel McCann in exchange for one bushel of corn. McCann presented the now-mature bird to the soldiers of Company C.

Old Abe accompanied the soldiers through four years of Civil War battles, was wounded several times, and came home triumphantly with the regiment.

The sight of the bold-eyed, screaming bird impressed Jerome Case, a deeply patriotic, honest, and straightforward man. He told his colleagues in Racine about the sight of the great eagle with the Wisconsin soldiers. In 1869, when the J I Case Company decided it was time to adopt its first trademark, it seemed natural to choose Old Abe.

An artist's drawing of the noble bird sitting on a perch was the first Case trademark, appearing just in time to be painted on the new Case Eclipse thresher in 1869. In the years following, the eagle moved from a perch to a branch and then to a globe, but it remained relatively unchanged.

By 1894, Old Abe had taken his place atop a globe, his talons firmly gripping an expanse that covered North America and Europe. The word CASE appeared across the globe, identifying the worldwide scope of the company, along with the power and pride inherent in the symbol of the bald eagle. The trademark remained in this form for another 75 years.

Old Abe moves to state capitol

Case no doubt paid close attention to stories about Old Abe during its lifetime. The bird was carefully tended after the Civil War, and eventually took up residence in Madison, Wis., where he lived in the basement of the state capitol.

In 1880, local newspapers noted that Old Abe went on parade with veterans on the streets of Milwaukee during a reunion of the Grand Army of the Republic. When the bands played, the mascot bird, now 20 years old, remembered his fighting days and, according to published reports, "uttered his wild battle cry of five or six wild screams in quick succession."

Unfortunately, this was Old Abe's last public appearance. A fire broke out in the capitol basement and the eagle nearly suffocated before he was rescued. He never fully recovered, and Old Abe died on March 26, 1881.

The original trademark of J I Case depicted Old Abe, an eagle that accompanied soldiers to Civil War battlefields.

In 1969, the J I Case Company, now owned by Tenneco Inc. of Houston, replaced the Old Abe trademark with a contemporary logo spelling "Case" in bold, outlined letters. Soon posters and large renditions of the original Old Abe logo became collectors' targets as the Old Abe logo became the historic symbol of the company's early days.

Today, the company that J.I. Case founded, and that Old Abe symbolized for a century, is a leading worldwide manufacturer of agricultural and construction equipment. Still headquartered in Racine, Case has 24,000 employees worldwide and does business in more than 150 countries.

Since pseudorabies is a reportable disease, regulations concerning swine transported into and out of the state are explained in Title 7 of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture's Code regarding Health Requirements for Importation and Intrastate Transportation of Animals.

Anyone with knowledge or suspicion of pseudorabies in a Pennsylvania swine herd must report this to state officials. There are approximately 125 swine farms in Pennsylvania currently quarantined because of pseudorabies.

Once reported, the state suggests that the herd be tested. There is no laboratory fee. The only testing costs are from the veterinarian for taking the samples. Under conditions of making a herd plan, producers can get assistance with part of the fees.

A livestock disease technician will visit the farm to place a quarantine on the infected farm. An investigation will be initiated to determine the source of infection. Information concerning pigs sold to other farms will be gathered. Neighboring swine farms within a two-mile radius of the infected herd will be contacted.

Permits are required to move swine from a quarantined area. Swine from a quarantined farm can only be moved to a slaughter facility or to another quarantined farm. A person shipping swine from a move-quarantined herd shall file an owner-shipper statement with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture within 3 days of movement. The permit will list the owner of the swine, destination for the shipment, and who is providing the transportation.

At this time, the state highly recommends that a herd cleanup plan be initiated but does not require this. A veterinary medical officer from the United States Department of Agriculture, Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (USDA/APHIS) will contact the infected farm. A survey will be completed and a herd plan developed should the producer desire one.

To use a vaccine in your herd, your veterinarian needs to apply for written approval from the state regulatory officials. Permission will be granted to use a licensed pseudorabies vaccine to achieve control fo the disease can be obtained by farms in high-risk areas.

To have the quarantine removed, the herd has to be test negative and the facilities thoroughly cleaned and disinfected.

There are several different means to have the quarantine removed. The first method, depopulation, is not widely used. The entire swine herd is sent to slaughter. After the facilities are cleaned and disinfected, they are allowed to stand empty for 30 days before another herd is admitted to the farm.

Since depopulation is not a popular management choice, other means of quarantine removal involve a series of herd testing. One method of testing is to test the whole herd after the last known positive has left the herd. The first test is done within 30 days, and the second test is done 60 days after the first test.

Another method of testing to remove quarantine involves three successive random testings of the breeding herd and feeder pigs four months and older. The first test is done 30 days after the last known positive has left the herd. A random sample is tested twice more, at 90 days and 180 days, after the first test.

World Quarter Horse Show An Arena Of Competition

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — The relationship between a cowboy and his horse is an image that has become a part of American folklore and culture.

"The rider must have good communication with the horse in order to be successful," said Dr. Jim Rudolph, superintendent of the North American Quarter Horse Show and board member of the American Quarter Horse Association (AQHA). "To be in this business you need to have a genuine love for horses."

The North American International Livestock Exposition (NAILE) is home to the fourth largest quarter horse show in the world. The show has been a part of the NAILE for 12 years and has experienced a 10 percent annual growth. Entries increased to 2,260 for the seven day show. 1,200 exhibitors representing 25 states participated. The combination purse for all quarter horse shows are over $50,000, with some individual classes such as team penning awards $17,000 to the winners.

"The classes primarily judge how well the horse and rider respond to each other but other classes strictly judge the horse," said Cindy Dowell, show manager. "A lot of skills, quick times and communication are needed in classes such as barrel racing, penning or pole bending. It's the rider and their work working against the clock."

"This show is AQHA sanctioned which is important to the exhibitors because they can earn official lifetime points," said Dowell. "Points are valuable to exhibitors because they add value to the horse when they go to sell it. Also, at larger shows such as the World Show, horses must have a certain lifetime point total to compete," explained Dowell.

Quarter horses are the number one registered breed of versatile horses that one typically thinks of as "the cowboy's horse". The name quarter horse is derived from the fact that these horses are bred for their quick bursts of speed. Originally they were used in quarter mile races. Today they are used primarily to work livestock, for trail riding and for competition.

"People who own these horses and compete with them come from all walks of life," said Rudolph. "Everyone from the professional trainer to the weekend trail rider can own these horses. Interest in quarter horses has remained consistently high and I think it is because of the horse's versatility.

"I've been working with horses for 30 years and what we try to accomplish at these shows is to ensure that everything runs smoothly," said Rudolph. "The facilities here are excellent and it attracts a lot of people. We are always trying to add classes as long as there is interest because these shows are an integral part of the quarter horse industry... they provide an arena to compare animals and skills."

Furman Farms Has Record Tomato Yield

NORTHUMBERLAND (Northumberland Co.) — Jim Kohl, vice president of farming and raw products at Furman Foods, Inc., has reported a record yield of tomatoes this year for Furman Farms.

Factors contributing to this historic yield are numerous. In addition to the weather, the record yield took extraordinary teamwork on the part of dedicated Furman employees.

The farm crew, comprised of Sam Rovenolt, & farm manager and George Conrad, Leroy Erb, Bob Gabel, Bob Schrawder, and Mike Stroup put inordinate time and labor into every detail of the crop.

Kohl said, "As the harvest progressed, if the right circumstances would have happened, we could have hit 38 tons per acre. But, all-in-all, it was a very successful year and I want to thank everybody who was involved."

Rovenolt, Furman Farm's manager, said, "It's hard to count all the individuals who had a hand in making this a success. Certainly not all the people and departments involved have been accounted for."

Some of the facts on this crop are as follows:

- The best yield before — machine or hand-picked — was 22 tons per acre.
- Foster Furman looked up records in 1942 when the average yield was five tons per acre. This year it was 35.06 tons per acre.
- Furman Farms had a total of 106.9 acres which, at 35.06 tons/acre, translates into 3,748.102 usable tons.
- The cull percentage was 3.7 percent (Furman's best ever).

"The Furman company is very proud of their record tomato crop this year. But for all the good that happened, there is still room for improvement," said Rovenolt.

Kohl said, "In the tomato growing industry, California has always led the way. This year, Furman Farms did not take a back seat to any part of the country." He congratulated Sam Rovenolt and all the farm team for their record-setting crop.

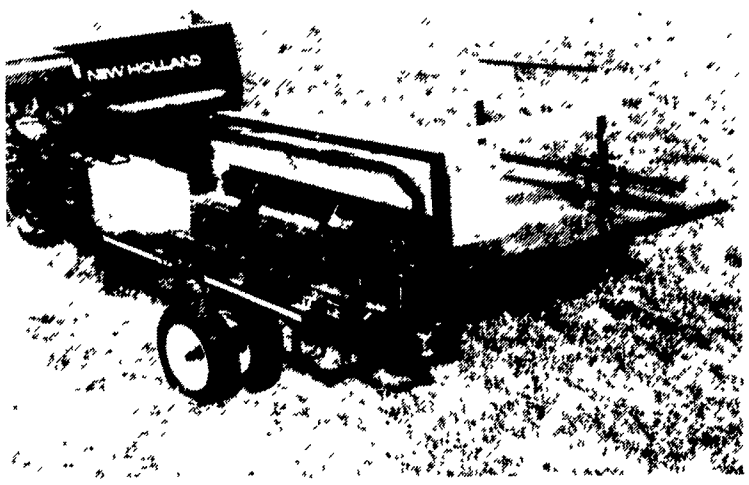
Hydraulics Power Accumulator



Hoelscher, Inc. announces their model 1000 accumulator powered by the tractor's hydraulic system.

BUSHTON, Kan. — Hoelscher, Inc. announces their model 1000 accumulator powered by the tractor's hydraulic system. As the baler pushes the bales onto the accumulator, a pivoting arm automatically lifts two bales at a time and puts them on the bed while turning them a quarter turn. By turning the bales on edge, hay spoilage and mold is reduced, and the bales keep their shape longer.

When the bed is fully loaded, the high dump angle will even high moisture bales to slide off evenly, regardless of travel speed. The bales are held together on both sides of the bed until they are firmly on the ground. This makes for easy pickup of the package and a tighter stack.

Hoelscher, Inc. manufactures a full line of bale handling equipment which allows one man to load and stack bales without manual labor, including the model 1030 accumulator for the mid-size bales, and a variety of bale forks.

MILK CHECK

THOMAS JURCHAK
Dairy Specialist

Congressmen went home to campaign before election day, so there was no way to get an increase in the support price even though it has been requested by dairy groups.

However, you're getting the next best thing from USDA which is doing a lot to support the market price of dairy products, also at the request of dairy groups.

They're doing this by advance buying of cheese and powder for school lunch and giveaway programs as well as stepping up the exports of all dairy products under the Dairy Export Incentive Program.

In September, the Commodity Credit Corporation of USDA offered to buy 21 million pounds of cheese, both processed American and mozzarella. So far, it has received bids for eight million and is looking for 13 million more for delivery through Nov. 30.

In addition, USDA has offered export bonuses under the DEIP for over 40 million pounds of butter, powder and cheese to be delivered this fall.

I guess you can view such advance purchases and accelerated exports as only taking away from future sales. But it may at least give a psychological lift to dairy product prices now, as you face counter seasonal milk production increases.

Supply and Demand

Milk production increases in all areas, but especially here in the Northeast and the upper Mid West, have produced supplies that exceed even the increased demand expected at this time of the year.

It isn't just the hard products of butter, powder and cheese, but even fluid milk and cream supplies are in excess, or at least close to it, in most regions. Most of the credit goes to favorable weather conditions as well as good forage and grain supplies so far.

The effect of early frosts on corn silage has yet to be felt in the bulk tank. The damage is spotty but even those farmers who are cutting dented corn say it just doesn't "rattle like it should going up the pipe."

So far, forage quality has two strikes — one for hay and one for corn — but we'll have to wait to feel the effect on milk production, if any. It hasn't shown up yet.

Price Dip

Last month we saw the end of cheese price increases after 21 weeks and, with continuing increases in milk production, price declines continued into October.

The drops are only a penny or less about every other week but on Sept. 18 they took the big dip of nearly 5 cents. After that, it was only 1 cent more on blocks and 1.25 cents on barrels.

So, except for Sept. 18, there have been no big drops since cheese prices peaked in August. But taken in total, it has been a loss of over 8 cents on blocks and nearly 12 cents on barrels. That makes the Oct. 9 price of $1.30 well above the support price of $1.12 for blocks.

Butter and powder prices are firmer and holding their own, but not enough better to increase prices.

On balance, the dairy product market is holding up better than might be expected from the increasing milk production. Perhaps the anticipated purchases by USDA for foreign and domestic markets is already working.

Farm Prices

With all the preliminary information I gave you so far, you can expect that it will be reflected in the Minnesota-Wisconsin Price Series (M-W) — where your farm prices start.

For September, the M-W fell 26 cents to $12.28 which is somewhat less of a drop than expected.

That's a total drop of 31 cents in two months and while it's unexpected at this time of the year, I've already given you the reasons why it happened.

However, if you remember that cheese prices have fallen 8 and 12 cents so far, a 31-cent drop in the M-W is not so bad and there will probably be more to come.

Still, you're getting dividends from the July M-W on your fluid milk price in September, so you will see increases of 13 to 33 cents on the uniform price for milk shipped to federal order handlers in Pennsylvania.

In Poland, his home country, these products are commonly acquired through the bartering system. Farmers often trade meat and vegetables for other goods or for labor.

FOR THE WEEK ENDING NOVEMBER 15

This is the last report in the 1992 series of the Weekly Crop and Weather Roundup. Because of the lateness of the season, collection of data on the remaining crop activities will be continued for a few weeks and the results can be obtained from PDA. We thank those respondents who supplied information to make this release possible. The Weekly Crop and Weather Roundup will resume next spring.

FAIR WEEK FOR FIELDWORK: This past week started cool and ended cool. A strong cold front swept through the state Thursday and Friday bringing all the weekly rain and the highest temperature. Temperature and precipitation were both above normal for the week. According to our survey, there were four days suitable for fieldwork. Activities included hauling manure; maintaining machinery; cutting and baling hay; making corn silage; fall plowing; harvesting soybeans, grain corn, and fruit; planting wheat; fixing fences; and caring for livestock.

SOIL MOISTURE: By week's end, topsoil moisture was rated adequate by 71 percent of our respondents and surplus by 29 percent. Fifty percent of our respondents in the northern region rated soil moisture as adequate, and 50 percent rated it surplus. In the central region, 80 percent of our reporters rated soil moisture as adequate and 20 percent rated it surplus. In the southern region, 69 percent rated it adequate and 31 percent rated it surplus.

CORN: Ninety-three percent of the corn was mature compared to 100 percent last year and the five-year average of 100 percent. Forty-five percent of the corn had been harvested by the end of the week. This compares to 84 percent last year and the five-year average of 66 percent. The corn crop for the state was rated 26 percent excellent, 51 percent good, 18 percent fair, 4 percent poor, and 1 percent very poor. Corn silage harvest was virtually complete.

SOYBEANS: Soybean harvest was 65 percent complete. Last year it was 81 percent complete. Soybean condition at the end of the week was rated 5 percent very poor, 7 percent poor, 18 percent fair, 50 percent good, and 20 percent excellent.

WHEAT: Wheat planting was essentially complete, the same as last year.

POTATOES: Pennsylvania potato harvest was virtually complete by week's end, the same as last year.

FALL PLOWING: Ninety percent of fall plowing was complete. Last year it was 93 percent complete.

FRUIT: Apple and grape harvest was virtually complete by week's end. A year ago they were complete.

HAY AND PASTURE: By week's end, the third cutting of alfalfa was virtually complete. The fourth cutting was 89 percent complete compared to 91 percent last year. The quality of hay made was rated good by 44 percent of our reporters, fair by 44 percent, and poor by 12 percent. The quality of feed being obtained from pastures was rated good by 22 percent of our reporters, fair by 44 percent, poor by 15 percent, and very poor by 19 percent.

Polish Scientist Studies

Technology in Lublin, Poland, Tomasz M. Gruszecki is visiting Penn State's department of dairy and animal science until the end of Novemember. He wants to learn more about the reproductive ability of sheep and the meat quality of lamb products. To that end, Gruszecki is attending undergraduate classes at University Park, and will visit two sheep farms in Centre Region and several Pennsylvania lamb packing plants.

"I have enjoyed attending classes here," says Gruszecki. "The experience of listening is important since I am usually teaching. Your lectures offer more give and take between teachers and students—more open discussion." Gruszecki sits in on meat science, taught by Professor Edward Mills, and Professor Clair Engle's Sheep Production.

Gruszecki says Penn State is rich in equipment and laboratories. He is especially impressed with the ability to bridge the gap between agricultural scientists and farmers. The main contact with producers in Poland is through breed associations.

Gruszecki will also spend time with Donald Evans, assistant director of Penn State Cooperative Extension, learning how we get research information out to producers. They are working together to initiate a program for teaching Polish youth about private enterprise.

Gruszecki's visit to the United States, including Brown University, South Dakota State, and Penn State, is funded by the International Research Exchange Program (IREX). Engle believes that programs such as this cultivate a dialogue for learning more about our respective agricultural bases. "This ultimately will provide better agriculture for all peoples of the world," he says.

Anyone wishing to reach Gruszecki during his stay here can contact him through Ed Mills (814-863-0669) or Clair Engle (814-863-3669).

BREWEX - For Use In Dairy Feeds

BREWEX is used extensively in complete dairy formulations to contribute utilizable energy. It is a price/performance value when used in dry feeds, liquid feeds and on-farm mixes.

MIX WITH DRY FEEDS: BREWEX is found in commercial pelleted rations for dairy, hogs and poultry as an energy source to replace corn. BREWEX replaces corn on a pound for pound dry basis and provides for improved pellet durability, reduced mineral segregation, dust control and improved palatability in dairy rations.

ON-FARM MIXING

A commercial Jersey dairy farm, having over ten years of experience in feeding BREWEX to partially replace corn finds that

- BREWEX replaced 5% to 10% corn/day
- BREWEX improves butterfat about 0.1%
- BREWEX mixed with forage reduces mortality due to displaced abomasum
- BREWEX helps cattle to stay on feeds

A LOAD OF MIRACLE BREWER'S WET GRAINS . . . LOADS MORE MILK

Have you considered brewer's wet grains to give your herd's production a boost? Brewer's wet grains from Miracle Feeds are an excellent protein and energy source. They can readily make up to 20-30% of the ration's dry matter Combined with McNess vitamins and minerals they can provide a very efficient rumen by-pass way to feed

Researchers estimate that between 45-55% of brewer's wet grains' protein escapes rumen degradation compared to only 25-30% for soybean meal. This by-pass protein is more efficiently digested and absorbed in the cow's small intestine

For more information on the use of brewer's grains and other by-products, plus McNess premixes, contact Bob Hoffmann at (716) 344-3930

And Suzuki QuadRunner ATVs are the right vehicles. For example, use the powerful King Quad® for autumn chores on the farm or take it hunting and fishing in the field. It gives you two- or four-wheel-drive flexibility, four-wheel independent suspension, plus integrated rear drive dependability. And right now, the King Quad and all other QuadRunner ATVs are available for zero down. So gear up and come in today!

*With approved credit. Restrictions apply. See dealer for details. Offer ends December 31, 1992. The Suzuki QuadSport® 80 may be used only by those 12 and older. Adults must always supervise riders under the age of 16. All other Suzuki ATVs may be used by those aged 16 and older. Suzuki highly recommends that all ATV riders take a training course. We'll even pay for it. For safety and training course information, see your dealer or call the SVIA at 1-800-852-5344. ATVs can be hazardous to operate. For your safety, always wear a helmet, eye protection and protective clothing. Never ride on paved surfaces or public roads. Never carry passengers or engage in stunt riding. Riding and alcohol or other drugs don't mix. Avoid excessive speeds. Be extra careful on difficult terrain. Along with concerned conservationists everywhere, Suzuki urges you to "TREAD LIGHTLY!" on public and private land. Preserve your future riding opportunities by showing respect for the environment, local laws and the rights of others when you ride.

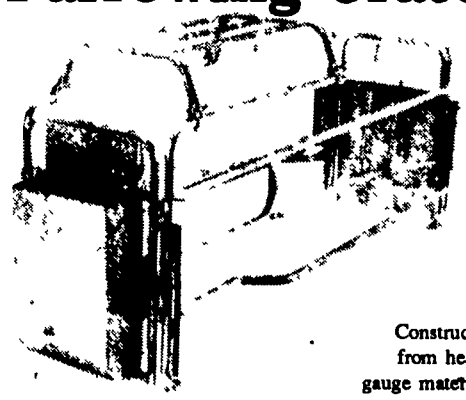
PREVENT PIGLET CRUSHING

BSM Model 90 Farrowing Crate



GALVANIZED!

Constructed from heavy gauge materials this crate is designed to reduce crushing, with sow comfort in mind. The bowed bottom bars makes for a comfortable 33" crate width when the sow lays down, yet the adjustable anti-crush bars eliminates the sow from carelessly dropping in the piglets.

This movement restriction does not hamper the sow as she lays down, or wants to stand up, as the bars slide up and out of her way.

Farm, Health Care Leaders Honor Pratt

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. — Dr. David Pratt, whose detective-like curiosity led to internationally recognized research on behalf of New York's farm families, was honored at a dinner at Hart's Hill Inn, Whitesboro.

Pratt and fellow pulmonary specialist Dr. John May kept seeing farmers who had temporary pneumonia-like symptoms, and they wanted to know why. They visited farms, conducted tests, and discovered bacteria-laden dust particles in silage that was causing an allergic reaction, including high fever and impaired breathing. Their initial research quickly mushroomed into their Farm Safe program, which in turn evolved into the New York Center for Agricultural Medicine and Health, a state-funded and Bassett Hospital-supported operation, with researchers, support staff, and even a clinic for farm families.

Pratt, director of NYCAMH, will be leaving the center to work in private industry. May, scientific director, will become acting director.

Michael Donovan, general manager of Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative and chairman of the NYCAMH Advisory Board, said the dinner will "honor and thank Dr. Pratt for his many contributions toward improving health and safety conditions on our New York State farms. Under his able leadership, NYCAMH's many endeavors have gained state and national recognition and funding for improving working conditions for our farm families."

Itle Attends Manager Meetings

LANDISVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — John Itle, of Lancaster recently attended district manager meetings conducted by Hoffman Seeds.

The meetings informed district managers about industry trends, new product developments, sales programs, and production goals. District managers also toured test plots to review the Funk's G® brand hybrids being offered to customers this fall.

Several speakers were featured during the three-day event, including Mike Ubl, national accounts manager of the CIBA-GEIGY Seed Division. He informed attendees about recent developments in biotechnology that will impact farmers in the near future.

Itle has been a district manager since 1980 and is responsible for Hoffman's southeastern Pennsylvania sales territory.

Hoffman Seeds markets a variety of farm seed products for the northeast, including Funk's G® brand hybrids from the CIBA-GEIGY Seed Division.

IXL

Anti-Friction Metal Conditioner

Efficiency is our Newest Resource

Science brings a new dimension to Anti-Friction

A metal conditioner product ahead of its time, IXL will give your equipment priceless protection. IXL gives protection far superior to just oil or lubricants. IXL is specifically designed to be used in: (NEW) and (USED) gasoline & diesel engines, compressors, automatic & manual transmissions, hydraulics, gear boxes, bearings of all types, turbos, pumps, and much more. IXL is a metal conditioner which treats all ferrous metals 3 to 5 microns deep, thereby making the metal surfaces harder, denser and smoother. These results are minimum metal wear, giving maximum engine and machine life. IXL reduces heat, friction, and wear, up to 75% without changing tolerances, reducing friction will release energy previously expended to overcome ordinary mechanical resistance. This energy is now available as a positive force, working to increase power, performance and fuel savings. IXL, also helps maintain and recondition seals and gaskets, by keeping these items pliable, firm, and flexible. It will help prevent leaks, IXL is not a lubricant fortifier, such as PTFE, Moly, or graphite. IXL is biodegradable, NON-TOXIC and environmentally safe. IXL is one of the highest quality products on the market today.

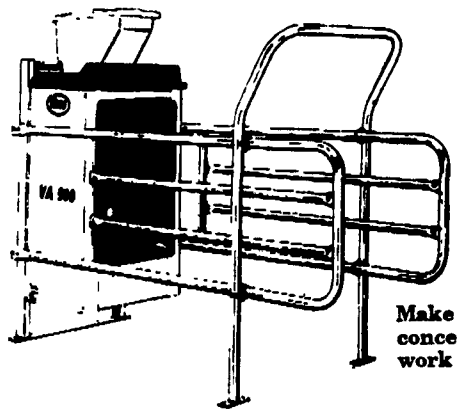
With this concentrate feeding system LESS MEANS MORE

Dairymen report a 7-8% increase in milk yield with 5% less concentrate input with the new VA 500.

Each cow's ration is fed automatically according to her individual lactation curve. Feeding for production means high producing cows get more. Every cow pays her way. The whole herd can be housed together and you don't need complicated computer support systems for operation.



Make your concentrate work harder.

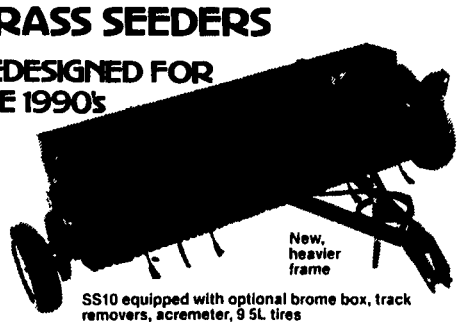
TODAY'S GOOD DEALS AT GOOD DEAL HEADQUARTERS: A.B.C. GROFF, INC.

BRILLION SURE-STAND GRASS SEEDERS

REDESIGNED FOR THE 1990's



SS10 equipped with optional brome box, track removers, acremeter, 9 5L tires

Grass seed is a very expensive commodity By properly placing the grass seed in the top ½ " of a properly prepared seedbed you will realize maximum seed germination

Because of Brillion's precision placement of the seeds, seeding rates can often be cut to nearly half of the rates previously used In many cases the savings in seed alone will pay for a "Sure-Stand" Seeder in just a short time.

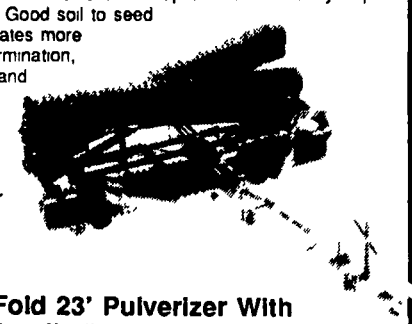
Model SS10 - 10' Seeder With Acre Meter & Wheel Track Remover Kit

SALE PRICE $5,995
SALE ENDS DEC. 1, 1992

BRILLION PULVERIZERS

Good yields start with a properly prepared seedbed A firm seedbed is critical to maintain a uniform planting depth The seedbed should be firm with fine soil particles at seed depth and should have a loose mulch on the surface to retard evaporation and conserve moisture

Some of the most valuable soil nutrients are locked in the clods left in your field The Brillion Pulverizer crushes clods to release those nutrients for use by growing plants At the same time air pockets are eliminated and moisture is drawn up the root zone by capillary action Good soil to seed contact creates more uniform germination, pollination and maturity, and that means increased crop yields and greater profits



X-Fold 23' Pulverizer With 20" Ductile Rollers & Scrapers

SALE PRICE $7,890

SALE ENDS DEC. 1, 1992

AUTOMATIC RESET

DEEP TILL

The three shank model, shown above, has a Category II hitch. With a cutting width of 7'6", it is ideal for operators with smaller acreages and horsepower. It is extremely maneuverable, yet provides the same basic deep tilling job as its "big brothers."

Model BTS-3 3-Shank, Auto-Reset

SALE PRICE $2,990 SALE ENDS DEC. 1, 1992

BRILLION FLAILS

keep going when others quit

When you buy a Brillion you get the BEST.. built-in quality with added strength where it counts.. all the way from the heavier hood with replaceable wear plates, right down to the dynamically balanced rotor with knives installed to provide smooth, vibration-free operation. With your Brillion you can cut and shred a full 15 feet of residue. And you can move right along without costly and time-consuming breakdowns.

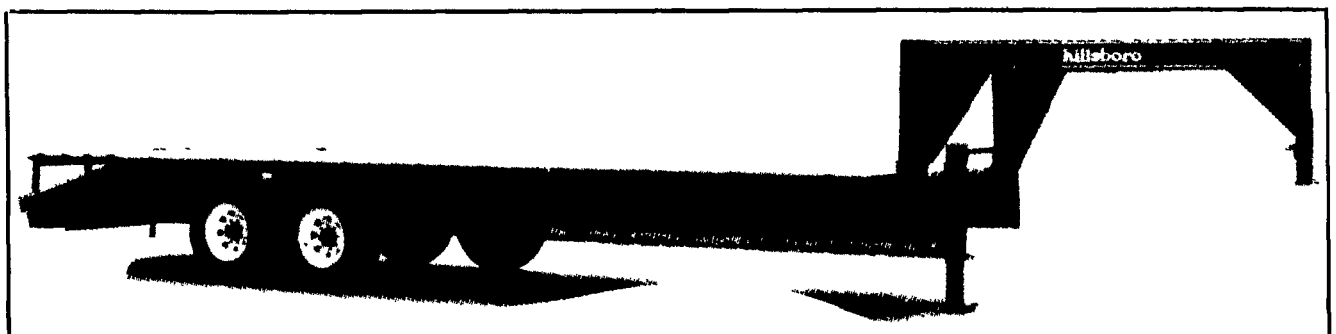
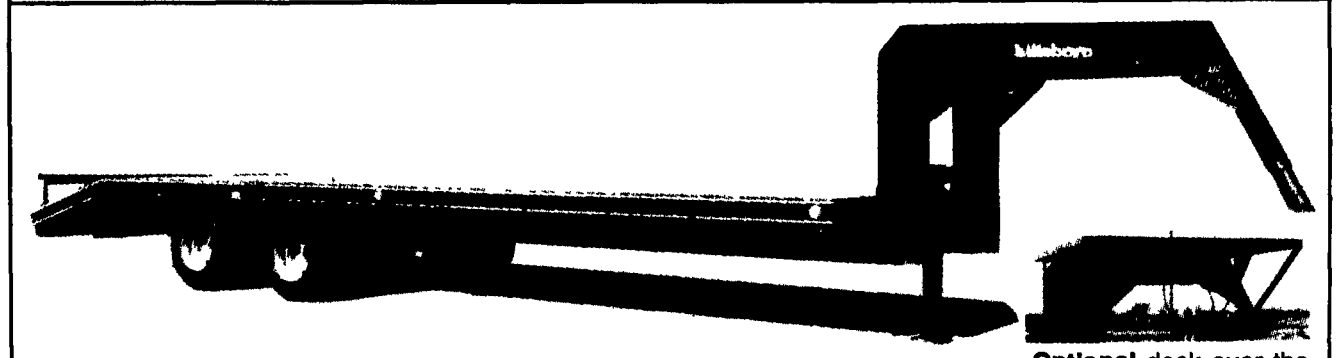
hillsboro
flatbed trailer
with flip-up beaver tail



24 Foot Length Shown



28 Foot Length Shown

Optional deck over the neck is 7½ 'x8'

The FLIP-UP BEAVERTAIL raises and lowers in seconds -- slide out ramps are stored under the beavertail. The Hillsboro Flatbed features a full 96" deck width which is more value than the competition.

The Hillsboro Flatbed is available in two styles; the 20' and 24' trailer with standard neck, and the 28', 30' and 32' trailer with heavy duty neck.

VERSATILE — RUGGED — RELIABLE and REASONABLY PRICED!

The Hillsboro Flatbed Trailer with flip-up beavertail can be the one trailer that means lower cost for you. Here's why!!

VERSATILITY! That's what makes a Hillsboro trailer such a good investment. With the beavertail down it's an excellent trailer for moving wheeled equipment. Flip the beavertail up and it adds an extra four feet of deck space for hauling hay and other bulky loads.

HERE'S WHAT HILLSBORO QUALITY MEANS - All Hillsboro trailers are manufactured in precise jigs and fixtures which assures excellent alignment of axles, a better pulling trailer, a level and square trailer.

HILLSBORO WORKMANSHIP INCLUDES-Exceptional weld quality, material that is chemically cleaned, two coats of high quality paint, material strength engineered into the best flatbed value.

BARN CLEANERS

Built to clean faster... built to last longer!

JAMESWAY

All-forged Hook-Link® chain... available on Super 300 and Super 500 barn cleaners

Extra thick steel at all wear points

IMPORTANT: Look for the "parting line" on any barn cleaner chain you buy. It shows where excess metal has been trimmed off. It is your assurance that the link was totally forged, not just punched out of a flat steel bar with grain flow in one direction only.
You want a totally-forged link because forging changes the grain on the steel, causing it to curve in unbroken flow lines around the contours of the link, giving the link greater strength to serve you longer.

FRESH COWS STALLING OUT???

Now There Is Something You Can Do About It!!!

Purina Freshener Pak Starts Cows Right.

Fresh cows go off of feed for a number of reasons: freshening problems, mastitis, forage changes, too much grain, ketosis and just plain stress. That's why Purina has come out with a product designed with this key problem in mind.

Dairy Freshener Pak is designed to not only stimulate your fresh cow's appetite, but it also helps her maintain a proper immune response.

HERE IS WHY

Dairy Freshener Pak contains these valuable ingredients in a palatable 4 ounces/day feeding rate:

Niacin - This slows fat metabolism and fights ketosis.

Yeast - Live Sacchromyces Cerevisae works to improve ruminal fermentation and stimulate appetite.

Vitamin - B_{12} Stimulates appetite and helps to correct low milk fat.

Vitamin - A & D Extra vitamins for periods of low feed intake.

Vitamin - E & Selenium Essential in the immune function of the body and helps to maintain structure and function of muscles.

Oxytetracycline - Reduces the incidence of bloat and increases milk production.
